INTERNATIONAL MANDATE PLAN FOR ETHIOPIA

As League Delegates Gather in Attempt to Prevent War, Suggestion Made European Nations Be Responsible For African Empire's Affairs

Eden and Laval Go to Geneva

Canadian Press and Associated Press
London, July 30.—The Exchange Telegraph Agency correspondent at Addis Ababa reported today Emperor Haile Selassie had been given a proposal that Ethiopia be placed under an international European mandate of the League of Nations.

The proposal, it was said, would grant special economic concessions to Italy.

The emperor was quoted by the correspondent as saying: "I don't object to the principle of European influence provided it is purely economic and not accompanied by political inspiration and control."

EDEN AND LAVAL

Paris, July 30 (Canadian Press from Havas).—Premier Laval and Mr. Anthony Eden, British League of Nations Minister, conferred for forty minutes here this afternoon on the programme of the meeting of the League Council at Geneva and on the possibility of still averting by some means or other war between Italy and Ethiopia.

The premier said, "We examined it as a whole and in its different aspects. You may be sure this conversation will be followed by others in Geneva."

The two ministers are to leave Paris together for Geneva this evening.

FRENCH EFFORTS

Paris, July 30 (Associated Press).—Official sources said today France is trying to save Ethiopia from the horrors of war by arranging for that nation the mildest form of protectorate acceptable to Premier Mussolini of Italy.

Niagara Will Sail Thursday Morning

Liner Will Turn About at Auckland in Attempt to Catch Up on Schedule; Will Go Alongside Rithet's Piers Early To-morrow to Reload Cargo

R.M.S. Niagara will sail for Auckland, New Zealand, at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning, James Macfarlane, Canadian-Australasian Line and Canadian Pacific agent here, announced this morning. The liner will not proceed to Australia, but will transfer her passengers at Auckland to another vessel, turn right around and try to catch up on her schedule.

The Niagara will leave the Dominion Government Drydock at Esquimalt, where she has been under repair by Yarrows Limited, early to-morrow, and is expected alongside Rithet's Piers shortly after 5 o'clock in the morning.

TO RELOAD CARGO

At Rithet's the liner will load the cargo which had to be removed from her forehold to permit inspection and repairs.

The Niagara was damaged in collision with the freighter King Egbert at 8:10 o'clock on the evening of Wednesday, July 17, twenty-five miles west of Esquimalt. She had sailed from here three hours earlier for New Zealand and Australian ports.

EXCELLENT WORK

The two weeks taken on the repairs is considered excellent time, and Yarrows Limited, who began work on the vessel as soon as she was brought in to the outer wharves on the morning following the accident, to-day expressed themselves as exceedingly pleased with the job they had done.

More than 120 men have been employed continuously during the last two weeks at the drydock repairing the damage to the liner's plates, frames and superstructure.

They are attempting to retrace the route of the old Norse discovery back across the ocean by air in easy stages. They left New York last week.

SUIT SETTLED FOR $500,000

U.S. Government Accepts Reifel Liquor Interests' Offer at Seattle

Associated Press
Seattle, July 30.—A motion for dismissal of the government's $17,350,000 civil suit against the Reifel Liquor Interests of British Columbia, based on a settlement out of court for $500,000 accepted by the government yesterday, was granted to-day by Federal Judge Jeremiah Neterer.

The case grew out of allegations of smuggling during the prohibition era and unpaid tariff duties and penalties were sought by the government.

"We're accepting that amount because it is all we could get," explained Samuel E. Whitaker, special assistant United States Attorney-General in charge of the case. "The offer was tendered a week ago and Joseph B. Kennan, Assistant United States Attorney-General, telegraphed his approval last night from Washington."

PROPERTY QUESTION

Whitaker pointed out that only a comparatively small amount of Reifel property could be found in the United States to be levied on and it was

Germany Makes Protest To U.S. On Flag Attack

Washington Government's Attention Formally Drawn to Action of Crowd in Tearing Ensign From Liner Bremen at New York

Associated Press
Washington, July 30.—Formal protest was made by the German government today against the action of anti-Nazi demonstrators who tore the swastika emblem from the steamship Bremen at New York city last Friday and threw it into the Hudson River.

A note protesting the incident was sent to the State Department by Dr. Rudolph Litzner, charge d'affaires of the German embassy, under instructions from Berlin.

It was reported reliably that the German government, under pressure from public opinion at home, decided the State Department's previous expression of regret over the incident was not sufficient.

CLOTHING DEPOTS CLOSED

Toronto, July 30 (Canadian Press).—Premier Hepburn to-day announced the Ontario government was "going out of the clothing business." An order has gone out closing all relief clothing bureaus in the city.

Britisher In Hands Of Chinese Bandits

Fears For Life of Gareth Jones, Ex-secretary to Lloyd George, Are Voiced

Associated Press
Kalgan, Inner Mongolia, July 30.—Dr. Herbert Mueller, German newspaperman, kidnapped by bandits three weeks ago, reached Paochang, northeast of here, to-day.

He had been stripped naked, and the first thing he asked for was a pair of trousers.

His former companion, Gareth Jones, correspondent for the Manchester Guardian and former secretary to David Lloyd George, ex-Prime Minister of Great Britain, was still held by the kidnappers and was believed in great danger since the bandit time limit for payment of ransom had expired.

British authorities were doing their utmost to communicate with the kidnappers.

Jones and Mueller were captured by the bandits near Paochang. Their Russian chauffeur, who escaped with a Chinese servant, according to an earlier dispatch, took authorities at Paochang the bandits demanded $40,000 and 200 Mauser rifles as ransom.

Japanese army officials were ordered to co-operate in the hunt for Jones.

CAR PARKING CHANGES LOOM

Police Chief Seeks Consideration of General Problem in Business Area

Consideration of the parking problem in the business district, with a view towards general reorganization, is suggested by Chief Healey in a letter forwarded to the City Council.

The chief makes the suggestion in support of his contention for the need of abolishing angle parking on Douglas Street to facilitate traffic control with the automatic signals.

Since this latter question was drawn to the council's attention, pressure has been brought on the council not to do away with angle parking.

Interested business men claim such action affects business and favor the angle parking, by which more persons are able to park in front of a store.

The chief claims, however, that only a small percentage of owners whose cars are parked in front of a store are actually purchasing in the store.

"He refers, in his letter, to motorists 'making a garage of the streets'."

NEW DISPLAY IS DESIGNED

B.C. Exhibition Experts Reproduction Work For Panel

B.C. exhibition specialists have designed and fashioned a new and clever creation for use next time the provincial government sponsors a display at an outside show.

The exhibit, arranged by A. H. Shotbolt, who handles display work for the province, and W. Curry, of the provincial information bureau, is now ready for assembly here.

In a panel 120 feet long by 12 feet 9 inches high, which will front on show space several feet deep, an attractive plan has been worked out.

At either end of the panel will be large totem poles telling the legend of the Thunderbird and the whale, and mixed with other symbols of Indian lore. These totem poles were carved specially for the exhibit by an aged Indian named Mark, an inmate of the mental hospital at Wilkinson Road.

Through panels in the totem poles pictures of the province will be shown. Along the front of the exhibit will be glass windows with swing doors in the centre.

On the inside Mr. Shotbolt's clever technique of reproduction will show itself. At one end will be a replica of Hell's Gate on the Fraser River with Indians dipping for fish. At the other will be a forest scene with a real waterfall, rocks, moss and jumping fish and bear-bearing animals.

The fish are cast from the real thing and have the original heads, tails and fins filed on and painted in natural colors.

The centre of the display will have a beach scene.

HOLIDAY FOR M.P.'S

London, July 30 (Canadian Press).—The House of Commons will adjourn Friday, to reassemble October 26, it was announced by the government to-day, indicating no plans for a general election before next spring.

Canadian Press from Havas
London, July 30.—Sympathy for Ethiopia's cause in the dispute with Italy is mounting high in Egypt and in India, it was reported to-day.

Muslims and Copts (Egyptian Christians) alike are organizing committees "for the defence of Ethiopia's independence."

The London Times reported, and many Egyptian and Turkish former army officers are offering their services to Emperor Haile Selassie.

sold most of her goods to the United

ECONOMICALLY SOUND

Economically, said Mr. Fujiwara, Japan was in a sound and steadily improving position. "She was finding that the way to take care of her population, expanding at the rate of 1,000,000 per year, was through industrial expansion, now that outside fields of colonization were being closed. Japan had practically no unemployment," he said.

NO THOUGHT OF WAR

"The more intelligent people in Japan had no thought of a war with anybody, least of all with Soviet Rus-

sa. The leading men of Japan, according to Mr. Fujiwara, were more concerned with the expansion of their home industries than with military intentions.

"The efforts of our forefathers and the pioneers of the present generation are bearing fruit in the shape of our industrial expansion," he said.

The Japanese were a skilful, industrious people, patient and good workers, a very great asset to any nation.

PAPER INDUSTRY

The pulp and paper business was one of Japan's main industries. Mr.
Fujiwara denied that he was visiting Canada in search of wood pulp supplies. He stated that the north end of Japan was very similar in the matter of its forestry to British Columbia, and that trees for wood pulp were plentiful.

Mr. Fujiwara and his party will land in Vancouver and proceed to Alaska.
Returning they will visit northern British Columbia, and make their way through the United States to San Francisco, where they will embark for Japan in September.

two robbers tied up the attendants

a ruby necklace once owned by Marie Antoinette.

Police estimated their loot as high as $100,000 exclusive of the necklace, which could not be priced.
It had been on display in the show window for a week with a card by which the French Government certified its authenticity.

NAVAL PLANS "IMAGINARY"

British Admiralty Says London Herald's Story Built on Conjecture

Canadian Press from Havas
London, July 30.—Purported disclosure yesterday of a seven-year naval building programme by The London Daily Herald, opposition organ, revealed a possible British programme, not a definite plan, it was reliably learned.

Official quarters declined any comment on the report. Lord Londonderry, Lord Privy Seal, outlined British naval policy again in response to questions, but whether it is to be yesterday but at no time did he mention the report.

Having verbally described the Herald's story as "purely imaginary and based on conjecture," the Admiralty decided to let the matter rest without issuing a statement.
Such a construction and replacement programme as that outlined by the Herald, which claimed plans already were drawn up calling for expenditure of $750,000,000 by 1942, may be considered as a project definitely to be carried out, political sources indicated.

Such a maximum programme may have been submitted to the German naval delegation during the recent conference, but whether it is to be carried out on such a scale, or modified or to be trimmed to normal, depends entirely on the international situation and outcome of negotiations with other naval powers on concrete programmes, now that the treaty restrictions are to lapse at the end of next year.

The programme reported by the Daily Herald would include twelve capital ships and thirty-three cruisers, with smaller craft.

Score Now Testing Cancer Treatment

Canadian Press
Kingston, Ont., July 30.—Since Dr.
H. C. Connell announced his "ensol" discovery two weeks ago for treatment of cancer, patients have come from outside points and to-day there are more than twenty-five in Kingston hospitals.

Dr. Connell has been hard pressed to organize his clinic, but has carried out this work as fast as possible.
Those who have undergone "ensol" injections are reported greatly improved.

Dr. Connell discovered "ensol" from biological products and the aim of his treatment, by injection of an "ensol" solution into the bloodstream, is to break down cancer cells.

DANISH PEASANTS TO BE GIVEN AID

Associated Press
Copenhagen, July 30.—The army of peasants which marched on the King's palace to deliver its demands for relief was returning home to-day on the government's promise of help.

Until Prime Minister Theodor Stauning received their deputation yesterday and assured them the cabinet would consider their plight, the peasants squatted in the courtyard of Amalienborg Palace.
Their ranks estimated at 80,000, they muttered a threat of a farm strike and expressed a determination not to move until the Premier heard their case.

Paris, July 30.—The troops in French Somaliland were ordered re-forced yesterday to guard against tribal disorders arising from the Italo-Ethiopian dispute in East Africa. Air force detachments and a battalion of Senegalese sharpshooters were sent to join the company already stationed there.

Trial Request Follows Inquiry

Dr. A. G. Hall, Protesting Kingston Prison Hearing, Suggests He Face Jury

Canadian Press
Toronto, July 30.—Dr. A. G. Hall, one of the chief witnesses at the Royal Commission inquiry into charges against Inspector J. D. Dawson at Kingston penitentiary, communicated with Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, yesterday evening, asking that he (Hall) be placed on trial for perjury.

Judge E. J. Daly, the commissioner who heard the charges made by Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., for Southeast Grey, Ont., that Inspector Dawson had used abusive and profane language concerning her, exonerated the inspector and declared some of the evidence given by Hall was "false."

Dr. Hall, in his letter to the minister, charged departmental interference had been permitted at the inquiry. He declared Judge Daly's report ignored evidence which he claims was of vital importance.

AS A TEST
Dr. Hall said he was aware there was no appeal from a Royal Commission and he sought this means of "testing" the report before a jury.

New witnesses could be heard, if a trial was held, he said.
"The whole conduct of this inquiry from its very inception has reflected the interference of your departmental officials, who even sought to and succeeded in inducing the commissioner to change a ruling some hours after it had gone into effect, when that ruling made a concession of fairness to myself," Hall's letter said.

"In the face of these facts I cannot permit the report to pass without offering to stand trial in an effort to place the report and its implications under the impartial scrutiny of a jury," the letter concluded.

LETTER NOT YET RECEIVED Ottawa, July 30.—Nothing was known at the Department of Justice to-day of a request from Dr. A. G.
Hall that he be tried for perjury.
Hon. Hugh Guthrie, the minister, had received no communication from Hall, a former prisoner of Kingston penitentiary who figured in the recent inquiry into alleged abusive language used by an inspector in referring to Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P.

MUST SEAL HOME BREW

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 30.—When Mrs. P.
Foster pleaded guilty to a charge of being in possession of unsealed liquor before Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson in police court to-day, she emphasized difficulties of "home brew" manufacturers. She was permitted to go on suspended sentence.

Under existing laws, it is legal for a person to make "home brew," but not legal for him to possess it. The magistrate said he understood a person could obtain a permit from the Dominion Excise Department to manufacture liquor at home and for home use, but provided legislation required all liquor be sealed with a provincial government seal.

The government, he said, made no provision for the sealing of such liquor, and if application for sealing was made no action was taken by officials to meet the application.

STEVENS VISITOR IN KOOTENAY

Canadian Press
Fernie, July 30.—Stopping off here on his way to Cranbrook, where this afternoon he will attend his party convention, Hon. H. M. Stevens, Reconstruction Party leader, spoke and discussed the political situation with his supporters. It was Mr. Stevens's entry not only into his constituency of East Kootenay, but also British Columbia. He drove from Calgary.

Later to-day, he is scheduled to speak at the Cranbrook convention and also possibly at an evening mass meeting. He will leave for Vancouver early to-morrow morning, arriving there Thursday for a stay of some days.

Mr. Stevens expects to visit his constituency again on the return journey from the Coast.

NATIVE SONS' PRESIDENT DIES

Canadian Press
Hamilton, Ont., July 30.—While the national convention of the Native Sons was in progress in this city, George J. Smith, president of the association for all Canada, died at his home in Hamilton yesterday evening.

Agulth, Sask., July 30.—Rose Cooper, about twenty years old, housekeeper on the farm of John Holmes, was destroyed, and two youths were injured by a mysterious fire which broke out early to-day.
Agulth is about thirty miles west of Saskatoon. The Holmes farm is four miles north of Agulth.

Weather Reports May Be in Line Thursday For Rus- sian North Pole-N.W.T.- Vancouver Flight to San Francisco

Associated Press
Moscow, July 30.—The weather continued unfavorable to-day over the proposed route of the polar filers and no improvement was expected tomorrow. Consequently, it appeared unlikely Sigmund Levanefsky and his two companions could start for San Francisco across the North Pole and northwest Canada before Thursday.

ROUTE STATED
A detailed description of the route the filers will follow, made public today, shows their total distance will be 6,500 miles. Most of the time they will be in the zone of continuous daylight.

Flying slightly west of the fortieth meridian, they plan to cross the sparsely inhabited Kola Peninsula and emerge over Barents Sea about 150 miles east of Murmansk.
Their last land point is expected to be uninhabited Victoria Island near Franz Josef Land. Thereafter 1,616 miles of sea and Polar ice stretch before them to Prince Patrick Island, off the Canadian Arctic coast. From the Pole the aviators expect to follow slightly west of the 120th meridian, crossing the tip of Prince Patrick Island. Their route thence to San Francisco is scheduled to take them over Banks Land, Great Bear Lake, Port Simpson, the Rockies and the Cascade Range, Vancouver and the regular air lanes to the California city.

It was officially announced all preparations for the flight were complete.
Otto U. Schmidt, head of the northern sea department, which organized the flight, said the plane was marked on the bottom and the top of the wings "URSS No. 28" in large black letters.

It is a low-wing monoplane with long narrow red wings, short grey fuselage with black stripes, broad tail surfaces, a three-bladed propeller, retractable landing gear and wheels set far apart under the wings. It has a closed cabin and is powered by a single M34 motor of 950 horsepower. Both the plane and motor are of Soviet construction.

WEATHER MEN CO-OPERATE
"Arctic observatories of Canada, the United States and the U.S.S.R. are co-operating to furnish the filers with constant reliable weather reports," Schmidt said. "The day of the takeoff depends entirely on the weather.
We are receiving daily bulletins from the Arctic stations of the Soviet Union and North America. We are proceeding with the greatest care as it is necessary for the filers to have favorable weather along the whole route."

FOILED AT MOSCOW
Seattle, July 30.—The final month of Alaska's discovery by the Russian was drawing to a close to-day with a Soviet Russian plane poised at Moscow and Russian representatives here and at Kaviak, N.W.T., reporting weather and flying conditions for a non-stop flight over the North Pole.
South across Canada and on to San Francisco.

It was just 194 years ago this month that Captain Commander
Vitus Jonassen (Ivan Ivanovich)
Bering and Capt. Alexie Ilich Chirkof discovered Alaska in the little ships St. Peter and St. Paul.
They had left St. Petersburg, commissioned by Empress Catherine, in 1732, but it took until 1740 to get to the Siberian coast, and it was not until June 4, 1741, that they sailed out across the sea and strait named for Bering, who had sailed them for the first time, from Kamchatka, in 1728.

IN FEW HOURS
To-day, only a few days more than 194 years later, Alaska is no longer a white space on the maps, and the box of gold has been found—Sigmund Levanefsky—is waiting in Moscow for what he hopes will be a few hours flight across the pole, down across the Northwest Territories of Canada, and by way of Vancouver, B.C., and Seattle to a happy landing at San Francisco.

With him will be Co-pilot Balbukoff and Navigator Victor Levanefsky.
At Kaviak to-day was Nicholas Schloff of Amtorg Inc. (Russian trading company), wirelessing weather and flying condition reports to Moscow.
He said the weather was clear and visibility unlimited.

THREE FINED FOR CODEINE SALES

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 30.—Joseph Allen, proprietor of the Rex Pharmacy, convicted of illegal sale of codeine, was fined $100 by Magistrate MacKenzie Matheson yesterday and Donald Brown and Bruce Macgibbon, employees of the store, were each fined $25 on similar charges.

Constable J. G. Yendell, giving evidence at the trial, told of alleged sales of codeine to operatives and said approximately eighty addicts had gathered at the store one night to obtain the drug. He said it was necessary for him to send for more officers to disperse the crowd.

The charges were brought against the accused by the Pharmaceutical Association of British Columbia.

EDITOR DIES

Milford, Mass., July 30 (Associated four, editor, publisher and founder of the Milford Daily News, died to-day at his home. He was a native of Stoughton, Conn.

SEVEN DIE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Associated Press
Orlando, Fla., July 30.—Seven persons were killed yesterday evening when an automobile plunged from U.S. Highway 99 on Housebrook Hill, forty miles northwest of Lee's Ferry, and rolled seventy-five feet into a canyon.
Of the eight occupants of the car,
only one, a child of three, escaped alive.

More German Jews Arrested

Drive Persists at Point Despite Check By Nazi Leaders

Associated Press
Berlin, July 30.—Seven Jews and six Gentile women were arrested in Halle to-day for an alleged "violation of racial principles," and there were other indications that despite attempts from above to curb anti-Semitic activity, it still continues in Germany.

One of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's troubles, for the moment, seems to be getting his petty officials to observe discipline. It became apparent that local burgomasters and public officials often take steps which exceeded their competence.

Cardinal Bertram issued orders to the churches in his diocese to have the following prayer said after each mass: "Let us pray for the peace and freedom of our whole church, especially within our Fatherland."

The Nazis put out a police communique from Recklinghausen, which said ten lay brothers of the congregation of "The Brothers of Mercy" had been arrested at "Maria Linden-hof," a home for feeble-minded and epileptic boys, on charges of immoral practices.

Meanwhile Weismann turned its attention instead strongly to communism.
A high source said Nazi leaders, in council with Hitler, had decided to curb ultra-radical activities against Jews, "political Catholicism" and other "menaces" because of the reaction abroad to the drive.

Associated Press
Berlin, July 30.—The Saxon Interior Minister late to-day decreed dissolution of the Steel Helms war veterans organization throughout Saxony, accusing its members of transgressions against the state and people.

Manchukuan Train Murders

Majority of Twelve Slain By Bandits Were Japanese

Associated Press
Tokio, July 30.—Manchukuan bandits were reported by the Renko (Japanese) news agency to-day to have held up the Hankin-Tumen express and slain a number of passengers.
Dispatches said the bandits detailed the night express about 50 miles east of Hankin yesterday evening and deliberately sought out Japanese passengers for death.

Of the eleven or twelve slain, the Renko correspondent at Hankin reported, one was a Russian and four Manchukuan, apparently mistaken for Japanese.
Sergeant Imamura of the independent guard corps of the Wan-tung (Japanese continental) army was the first victim of the bandits, the correspondent said, and after he was shot the slayers burned his body and disposed of it, shouting "Down with the Japanese."

An unestimated number of persons were wounded. Twelve guards were reported kidnapped and Japanese and Manchukuan troops hastened out in an effort to rescue the prisoners and capture the slayers.
The Manchukuan press, meanwhile, reported the kidnapping by bandits in inner Mongolia three weeks ago of John Goette, United States correspondent, and Dr. Herbert Mueller, German correspondent.

CANADIAN HEARD BY COMMUNISTS

Canadian Press
Moscow, July 30.—Canadian Delegate George yesterday told the seventh congress of the Third International that the membership of the Communist Party had doubled since the party was proclaimed illegal in Canada.

Communists led 90 per cent. of all recent strikes, he asserted.
The delegates greeted his remarks enthusiastically.

Leading Canadian Communists declined to identify George or say where he came from. Since the party is outlawed, it was feared authorities might arrest him on his return to the Dominion.

most $2,500,000 is disposed of in the will of the late Sir Albert Edward Gooderham, filed for probate by the Canada Permanent Trust Company.
It was disclosed to-day.
By his will Lady Gooderham is entitled to occupancy for life of the family residence and a life interest in $200,000 and a legacy of $25,000.

NAILS CLEARED FROM STREETS

Police Pick Up Brads Thrown on Road Near Wharves

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 30.—City police were given twenty-four hours early today cleaning up many pounds of up-clustering nails on Commissioners Avenue. The nails were spread allegedly in an attempt to stop taxicabs and automobiles carrying waterfront workers to the Nelson Spencer booming grounds, from reaching their destination.

Rod McLeod was arrested by police and charged with assault on Peter Cuculescu, a fireman on the St.
Prince Rupert, who is in the General Hospital suffering from injuries allegedly received Monday afternoon when slugged by a strike picket.
A charge of assault was laid against Carl Westrand, who was taken into custody for throwing rocks at a taxicab carrying waterfront workers.

"These same authorities said Premier Laval told the cabinet that the seemed inevitable unless it Duce gets what he wants.
Premier Laval received from the cabinet power to negotiate a settlement at Geneva during the League Council meeting which will open there to-morrow.

REPORTS OF REVOLT

Associated Press
Addis Ababa, July 30.—Authoritative Ethiopian sources said they had received confirmation to-day of reports of a revolt of a number of natives in Italy's colony of Italian Somaliland, southeast of this "last black empire," had struck out for Ethiopia in the vicinity of Uatual, scene of a frontier incident last December.

Ethiopian troops, 10,000 strong and modernized equipped, marched away from the capital to-day under the command of former cabinet minister Dedjamatsh Mapiemakel.
Strict military secrecy surrounded the troop movements. The War Office declined to confirm reports the field army from southern Ethiopia was headed for the frontier of British Italian colony to the northeast.

MORE TROOPS SENT
Rome, Italy, July 30.—Italy dispatched further fighting forces to East Africa to-day as Italian diplomats journeyed to Geneva to take part in the League of Nations efforts to liquidate the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

While 500 officers and men sailed from Naples aboard the steamship Abdallah for East Africa, the Italian government withheld official comment on the prospect of a successful outcome of the Geneva negotiations.
Official sources asserted, however, that if the League Council decided to Italy's contentions that only frontier incidents may be discussed by the conciliation commission, Italy's representatives would raise no obstacles to the League.

OBSTACLES AT GENEVA
Geneva, July 30.—The League of Nations, confronted with to-day in its apparent programme of speaking softly and moving gently in the impasse between Italy and Ethiopia, League circles said Britain appeared to be the only member of the Council likely to call for forceful action at the Council meeting opening to-morrow.

Reports from Scandinavian states, however, indicated those nations were following keenly the League's handling of the dispute and were inattentive it should protect interests of smaller nations.

Any persistent temporizing in the east African problem, Geneva sources said, might lead to difficulties at the September session of the League Assembly, and possibly even to threats of new resignations.

"LEADING MAN"
Britain's stand for the special Council session aroused widespread interest. Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden Minister for League of Nations Affairs, is popularly cast in the role of "leading man." Speculation mounted as to whether Mr. Eden would demand a complete withdrawal of the controversy, including a pledge that Italy halt its mobilization in east Africa, or would be content with a revival of arbitration.

WHITE OFFICERS
Capetown, Union of South Africa.— Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia was said in a dispatch by the Reuter (British) News Agency to-day to have asked for the prompt dispatch to Ethiopia of white men being recruited here as officers for Ethiopian troops.

The agency said arrangements had been made to equip them and rush them by airplane to Ethiopia at an estimated cost of $200 (about $1,000) each.

It was said that instructions to select British subjects have been sent by the emperor to Sir Ahmed Res-harden, whom he has appointed as official Ethiopian representative in Capetown.

MERCHANTS STRIKE
Addis Ababa, July 30.—Domestic troubles to-day added to Emperor Haile Selassie's worries. The city's merchants and importers went on strike because of currency restrictions.

Eighty-five per cent. of the capital's business was at a standstill, as the strike began in protest against the low value of the country's money, the silver thaler, which, because of an embargo on exports, is now worth as

EDEN GOES TO GENEVA
London, July 30.—Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden took off from the Croydon air field for Paris to-day en route to Geneva to seek an Italian pledge to explore every possible channel for a peaceful settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian controversy.

Britain's Minister for League of Nations affairs intended otherwise to insist on a full dress debate at the League of Nations Council session tomorrow of the entire dispute—a "showdown" which the Italian delegation was reported to have been instructed to avoid at all costs.

Only on that basis, it was under-

Aged Calgarian Has Birthday

J. T. Enstone Born in England Ninety-nine Years Ago; Varied Experiences

Calgary, July 30.—John Thomas Enstone, who can recall the bare-knuckle days of the prize ring and five wars in which Great Britain was involved, celebrated his ninety-ninth birthday here to-day.

Born at the Lye, Gloucestershire, England, one year before the death of King William IV, he has resided in Calgary for twenty-one years. He left home at the age of twelve and took up entering work at the Imperial Club, Cheltenham, later leaving to join the staff of the Westgate Hotel at Newport, Wales.

He was present at the grueling fifty-two-round bare-knuckle bout between Tom Sayers and Henman, the latter winning. The wars in which Britain was involved during Mr. Enstone's lifetime were the Crimean, the Indian Mutiny, the Zulu and South African Wars and the World War.

The near-centenarian can discuss depositions of his earlier life which he says, make the present economic situation appear insignificant. Of good hearing and vision, he enjoys discussions on modern questions.

Mr. Enstone's father lived to 103. He was killed in an accident.

Washington, July 30.—The new $275,000,000 United States tax bill was formally approved to-day by the House ways and means committee.

Though the expenditure by the power companies of more than $1,000,000 to defeat the Roosevelt holding company bill has been announced, Senators said committee investigators found the files of the companies virtually blank with reference to the campaign.

Associated Press
Los Angeles, July 30.—An experiment towards solving the relief problem by enabling unemployed to produce necessities for their own families and other persons on relief rolls has been launched by the Los Angeles County rehabilitation department.

Through a highly diversified production plant, the department hopes to provide a living for about 150 families, and possibly supply subsistence needs of 400 to 500 other relief cases. The plant will be in operation within a few weeks.

Persons employed in the plant will be given credits for their work which they can exchange for any products or services available there.

YOUTH JAILED ON BANKNOTE CHARGE

Canadian Press
Toronto, July 30.—Mike Porokko, Edmonton artist, was sentenced to three months definite and six months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory when found guilty in police court yesterday of painting paper to resemble $5 bank notes and passing them as money. He broke down as sentence was passed.

Porokko painted about ten "perfect" $5 bills "out of his imagination," after a promised job did not materialize.

"The boy is not criminally inclined," the magistrate said. "He spent all the money he earned on a correspondence education. Then he came down to the correspondence school which promised to find him a job, only to discover a sign at the school address, 'Out of business.'"

The "bills" Porokko painted were intended to be Bank of Montreal currency, but the artist signed the signatures of the president and vice-president of the Royal Bank.

Planet Venus May Have Life On It

WILL BE SENATOR

Conditions and Climate More Adapted to Life Than on Mars, Says A. I. Deacon in Lecture Before Astronomical Society

Though he does not discount the possibility of life on Mars, A. I. Deacon, of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill, believes it is more probable that there is life on Venus.

"We have no definite proof, as the most powerful telescope cannot pierce the dense atmosphere surrounding Venus, but the climate and the general condition of this planet is more adapted to life as we know it than Mars," he told the Victoria Branch of the Royal Astronomical Society during the course of a lecture on these two planets in the Victoria College yesterday evening.

Last night's meeting was entirely devoted to the study of the planets as Mr. Deacon, also of the staff of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory, gave a talk on Jupiter and Saturn.

Just as Venus was the most beautiful of the ancient Greek deities, so Venus was the brightest of the planets, Mr. Deacon said. Its diameter was a little less than the earth's, but its year was only 225 days.

Venus had no moons, but as it was so close to the earth it showed phases like the moon.

Mars was a small planet, only 4,390 miles in diameter and one-ninth the mass of the earth, the lecturer said. It was 142,000,000 miles from the sun and had a year of 687 days. The length of the day on Mars, however, was about the same as that on the earth.

TWO TINY MOONS
Two tiny satellites spun around this planet and were named Phobos and Deimos after Homer's chariot horses which drew the god Mars on his journeys. The smaller of these was about ten miles in diameter, Mr. Deacon said, and moved around on an orbit only three thousand miles from Mars. Due to its proximity it travelled around the planet in seven hours.

A hot summer day on Mars would only be about forty-five to sixty degrees, and the winter would be so cold that it would be doubtful if a human being could stand it. In the winter months Mars was observed to have a large polar cap, the lecturer noted. This gradually disappeared in the summer, when the fine lines could be seen on the planet.

Some people believed these lines to be canals and others thought they were bands of vegetation, while still others were skeptical that there were any lines at all, Mr. Deacon said.

The giant Jupiter, 1,500 times the diameter of the earth, had a thick atmosphere which was disturbed by terrific storms, Mr. Burton said, in explaining the varying coloring and spots on the planet.

Jupiter was five times as far from the sun as the earth was, and it was still in a gaseous condition, as its specific gravity indicated.

MOONLIGHT POOR
"Jupiter has nine moons," Mr. Burton said. "Some of them are far larger than our moon, while others are only a few miles in diameter. However, if they were all shining at once, they would only cast one sixteenth the light of our full moon."

Saturn was a unique planet. It had three distinct rings around it, and ten satellites. It was 765 times the diameter of the earth, but its low specific gravity indicated that it was still in a gaseous condition and was possibly still burning, the lecturer observed.

The day on Saturn was only ten hours long, and due to the fact that it took 29.46 years to tour around the sun, its year was 29,000 days long.

The rings around Saturn varied in size, Mr. Burton said. The outer ring was about 18,000 miles across and fifty miles thick. It was now generally agreed that the rings were made up of a dense mass of meteors.

Commander F. R. Tingley was in the "air and introduced the speakers as men 'who are getting weather observations from a long distance off, in fact from the planets.'"

Miss Phoebe Riddle gave a short talk on the "epic method of locating heavenly bodies."

Appointments Made At U.B.C.

A. E. Foreman, B.Sc., Associate Professor of Civil Engineering

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 30.—The board of governors of the University of British Columbia yesterday evening announced five appointments to the staff.

A. E. Foreman, B.Sc. (McGill), has been appointed associate professor of civil engineering to succeed E. G. Matheson, who has retired.

DeWitt M. Taylor of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has been appointed associate professor of mechanical engineering, substituting for Dr. H. F. O. Lelton, who is on leave of absence.

Other appointments include: Frank A. Forward of Toronto, assistant professor of metallurgy; Stanley D. Lash of Birmingham, Eng., instructor in civil engineering; and H. P. Archibald of McGill, assistant in drawing.

WORKERS LONG WITH COMPANY

General Motors of Canada, Says Stevens Gives Wrong Impression

Oshawa, Ont., July 30.—General Motors of Canada yesterday issued a statement describing as "entirely incorrect and in no way based on facts" a portion of a speech delivered by Mon. H. H. Stevens in Winnipeg last Saturday evening in which the Reconstruction Party leader said he had information that after a man became forty-five years old such firms as General Motors and the Ford Motor Company had little use for him in their factories.

Mr. Stevens said a plant manager had told him that "at forty-five they must go: we're through with them."

"We have approximately 1,000 workmen on the payroll to-day who are over forty-five years of age," added the General Motors statement. "Some of whom have been with us as long as thirty-five to forty years."

"Our practice in taking on new employees—and of course recently there have not been many taken on because we have been absorbing former employees—is quite naturally to engage younger men who have not given the best part of their lives to other work. This, we consider, is a common-sense and justifiable practice."

"It is regrettable that statements of this kind should be broadcast when we are absolutely innocent of such practices as have been attributed to us."

CELEBRATES 50TH BIRTHDAY

NATIVE SONS IN CONVENTION

Delegates at Hamilton Hear Advice That Canada Keep Out of European-African Wars

Canadian Press
Hamilton, Ont., July 30.—About fifty official delegates joined with 300 citizens here yesterday evening at the opening banquet of the Native Sons of Canada's annual convention.

R. W. Carr, first vice-president, Kildonan, Man., presided in the absence through illness of George J. Smith, national president.

Mr. Carr warned of war threats in Europe, declaring he would not have his sons settling "any quarrel between Italians and Ethiopians even if that part of the world is wiped out."

"It is no quarrel of ours," he declared.

He opposed European immigration for Canada.

He attributed the continued expansion in tourist traffic on the island to the constant and vigorous efforts of the bureau.

One black mark existed, however, he said, it was the condition of the roads. "Our roads are driving our own people out of the province during their holidays," he declared.

Victoria has friends everywhere, Mayor Leeming said, and recounted several conversations he had recently with officials in cities in the United States.

CROWD MOBS BABY ACTRESS

Over 8,000 Greet Shirley Temple at Honolulu Pier

Associated Press
Honolulu, July 30.—A crowd of 8,000 children and adults jammed the pier yesterday to greet Shirley Temple, child film actress, as she reached here on a vacation trip, the first trip of her six years of life to take her out of California.

The crowd was orderly enough until Shirley's parents slipped her through a side door into a private automobile. Then the rush began, and the baby star narrowly escaped being caught.

A big squad of police had arranged the waiting Honolulu children in two closely packed lines extending across the dock and out into the street. All the children were tensely excited, but there was no sign of trouble. Brown, white and yellow skinned children were there, arriving in street cars, busses, automobiles and on foot.

There they remained, clapping their hands and waving, looking forward to getting a good look at the little actress. They saw Shirley, and her party turned aside from the gangway, however, and start for a waiting sedan on the dock.

In a flash the two lines melted. Children and their parents dashed toward the Temple car. The Temple party, even with half a dozen lusty male escorts, had no easy time getting into the car, and by the time the insurance company for administration, "We have here a sufficiently large group of employees to form a stable pension, and we have available the expert staff and facilities of the superannuation department," he said.

Verbal War On Telegraph Error

Canadian Press
Toronto, July 30.—A telegraph company manager had the last word yesterday in a verbal war between Mayor James Simpson of Toronto and Mayor H. E. Wilton of Hamilton over a telegram that was delivered to the Toronto mayor's home marked "collect."

Mrs. Simpson paid the 95-cent charge.

It was the telegraph company's error, since the telegram from Mayor Wilton was sent prepaid. Commenting on the "collect" wire, Mayor Simpson said it was "the sort of thing you would expect only from a Toonerville trolley office-holder in a town pump municipality."

Telegraph company officials went to the mayor's office and presented the chief magistrate with 95 cents, explaining there had been an error.

How do you CHOOSE?

Every time you make a purchase you make a choice. Buying a certain product may be so much a matter of habit that you don't realize you are choosing. But the fact remains that in accepting one brand of goods you are always rejecting others; and the satisfaction you get from what you buy depends on the knowledge of quality and values that guides your selection.

How do you know which bed sheets, or which roofing material, or which radio will give you service you require? You can't personally test everything you buy and compare it with all the other products in its class. But there is a way to find out which brand fits your needs.

The people who are most successful in their buying—who achieve the highest percentage of satisfaction from the things they own and use—are those who consistently read the advertising columns and buy consistently advertised goods.

Choosing isn't just "guessing" when you follow the guidance of the advertisements.

WHEN WILL IT BE?

WE ARE TOLD IN A DISPATCH FROM Ottawa that it is highly probable the date of the federal general elections will be made known this week. This appears to be based on the announcement that Premier Bennett will return to Ottawa from Atlantic City in a day or so.

The businessmen of Canada will welcome this news for the reason that the uncertainty which has prevailed in commercial circles for the last few months, owing to the trifling way the government at Ottawa has been dealing with the country's grave problems, has seriously injured the Dominion's trade and commerce structure.

Government speakers and Conservative aspirants for parliamentary honors continue to tell us that what Canada stands most in need of is stability in the administration in her affairs. The one thing Canada has not been getting is stability. The falling off of external business last month bears witness to this fact. Importers are beginning to limit their purchases until they know what alterations will be made to the tariff. This is having an effect upon employment, for it follows that just as soon as imports are cut down, exports likewise fall off commensurately.

The increase in the tariff which the Bennett government has imposed under many heads, of course, has had its sequel in the cutting down of Canada's external trade. Thus it follows that in the period of transition from the Bennett government to the King government Canada's buying from abroad will very likely drop considerably, with the result there also will be a decline in Canada's selling.

In other words, Canadian importers from now on will "buy lightly" from abroad. It will be a hand-to-mouth business from the national economic standpoint, a case of getting by with the minimum until a sensible tariff structure has been restored.

BIGGER NAVIES?

REPORTS FROM LONDON INTIMATE that the British government proposes to embark upon a seven-year naval programme which will involve the expenditure of $750,000,000. The programme, which is provisional upon the failure of the forthcoming naval conference to bring about a fresh limitation of sea-armaments, has already been communicated in detail to France, Italy, the United States, Germany and Japan. It has been kept secret, however, from the House of Commons and members have begun to resent what they call the "hush-hush policy" of the cabinet. The Admiralty's plan is said to be the introduction of a new naval defence act next year with the raising of a naval loan to defray the cost.

It is pointed out by several commentators that unless the naval conference next year achieves success in a big armaments limitation, the naval rearmament of Britain is likely to form one of the main issues at the next general election. Projects for the reorganization of the army so as to supply it with more deadly weapons, including speed tanks for smashing enemy trenches, are also afoot.

This announcement, although not official, has been received with mixed feelings by the press and public men of Great Britain. We are told that the Liberal and Labor parties will fight it tooth and nail. On the other hand, it will have to be admitted that Great Britain, as the records show, has led the way toward disarmament in a practical manner in the hope that other nations would follow suit. The other nations have not followed suit. On the contrary, they have added to their armaments at a very substantial rate.

Supporters of a big navy programme contend that it must be remembered that Great Britain depends for the greater part of her food supplies on empire and foreign countries. They insist that the Great War demonstrated her vulnerability in this respect and she should take every step to insure her security.

There is another school of thought reflected by the recent peace ballot, and which is interpreted by some as a mandate against more armaments. It is suggested that the rumored new naval programme may have been an issue at the next general election. In the informal peace ballot, conducted by more than forty organizations, which took seven months to take, one-quarter of the population and one-half of the electorate voted, and under all heads registered more than a 90 per cent majority in favor of peace.

There is still another school which argues that it is absurd to continue to build naval craft of various descriptions in view of the development of airplanes, which it contends makes all surface armament on land and sea useless. The subject is bound to have much public ventilation from various angles before long, because the Briton takes nothing for granted these days.

A USEFUL MEMBER

THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT MR. Wilfred Hanbury will not be a candidate for the Liberal nomination for Burrard will be received with regret in many quarters throughout the province. Mr. Hanbury was elected a member of Parliament five years ago, and during that period gave faithful service not only to the constituency which sent him to Ottawa but to the whole province. Essentially a man of business, who believed that actions speak more loudly than words, he was not a frequent participant in the debates of the House, but in every way he proved himself to be a very useful member.

The attendance of parliamentary sessions accounts for only a small part of a member's duties. In fact, the average representative has to spend more time in departmental activity than he does in either the House or Senate. He must make his daily rounds of the various branches of the federal service in response to the numerous importunities he receives from his constituents, covering a wide range of subjects, and must keep his correspondents informed of the result of his efforts. He must act as guide, philosopher and friend to deputations from his province, arrange appointments and otherwise attend to their needs. No conscientious member of the House has an idle moment, and when he represents as populous and important a constituency as Burrard, he is an extremely busy man. Mr. Hanbury in this respect met all requirements, and the next Parliament will be considerably the loser from his decision to retire from active public life.

THE FIRST SKIRMISH?

ACCORDING TO REPORTS RECEIVED by the London press, tacitly admitted by Rome and not confirmed or denied by Addis Ababa, there has been a skirmish between Italian and Ethiopian troops on the border between Eritrea and Ethiopia, in which forty Italians and twenty Ethiopians were killed. The report to The Times of London said that Italian troops, penetrating into Ethiopian territory, had camped near a stream, which was diverted by the Ethiopians and the invaders had to retreat under cover of darkness. It was while the Italians were retreating that the Ethiopians swept down upon them.

Whether the reports of this skirmish are true or not, they emphasize one of the many difficulties with which the Italians must contend if they persist in their adventure in East Africa. Water is a vital necessity in any military campaign, and while there is plenty of it in the highlands of Ethiopia, it is very scarce in the lowlands. Mussolini will find that the Italian excursion into this part of the Dark Continent is not going to be a picnic.

Meanwhile in Italy a munitions factory at Veresa has blown up with the probable loss of nearly fifty lives. Whether this disaster was the result of an accident or sabotage we never may learn, but it is well to remember that for some time there has been a very pronounced sentiment in Italy hostile to Mussolini and his suppressive methods, and that the attitude of the Italian people is not accurately reflected by the stage-managed, melodramatic Fascist demonstrations in Rome. The Italian people are not as foolish as Mussolini and his associates represent them out to be, and some day they will make this startlingly clear.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT IS making no mistake in spending $150,000 on the construction and equipment of a new tubercular wing beside the chest clinic quarters at the Vancouver General Hospital.

Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary and the Minister in charge of the Department of Health for British Columbia, has demonstrated his practically-sympathetic interest in those unfortunate in this province who have been caught by what still is called the "great white plague."

The announcement of this investment which Dr. Weir has made will appeal to all taxpayers of this province who realize that as long as there is insufficient accommodation to care for the tuberculous of our population taxes will remain higher than they need be.

When it is considered that in British Columbia there are nearly 6,000 cases in various stages, and that there are between 500 and 600 deaths every year, it will be seen that Dr. Weir is fighting a real menace.

When we say that it is economically sound to make sure that the annual death toll from tuberculosis, the annual increase of subjects from the incipient to the advanced stage of the disease, we are not only looking to the economic phase of this ghastly problem but more fervently to the humanitarian phase of it. Those who have not suffered from tuberculosis may think that $150,000 is a lot of money to spend on a new wing for the Vancouver General Hospital. A few years of constant coughing and the exhaustion which goes with it would soon cure them of any miserly instincts in this regard.

A JEST GOES WRONG

We were walking through the garden when the crazy notion came.
Had I stopped to think a minute I'd have promptly let it die.
But I thought it rather funny and I thought she'd think the same.
But satire with a woman is a dangerous thing to try.

I took her silver compact and "it seems to me," I said,
"This ring is needing something Mother Nature won't supply."
So the edges of its petals I will rouse a deeper red
And I'll powder it a little 'til it's lovelier to the eye."

Then I bent to paint a lily, and a drop of scent I tossed
On a little patch of violets that blossomed at my feet.
But the woman was offended and my little joke was lost
And the bitter names she called me I had better not repeat.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

by ALINE MICHAELIS

FOREST SECRETS

A forest seems a secret place
As though it held in its embrace Much lore which it would hide from all
Who wander where its shadows fall:
It knows of nests the robins build
When spring's glad promise is fulfilled.
It shields retreats of furry things
And muted flutterings of wings.
The branches bend as thickly down
As people dwelling in a town.
And through the leaves a whisper flows:
Whence comes this voice and whither goes?
A deeper lore is waiting here
Where slanting sunbeams disappear
And come again in fitful dance
Through all the woodland's still expanse:
A mystery which lurks and glides
Among the tree-trunks, and slides
In every leafy, emerald dell;
The forest's secret, guarded well.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

STAGGERING PROBLEM

The Washington Post

High prices lose their attractiveness when there is no market for a considerable part of the farmer's produce. Until the AAA has demonstrated its ability to regain lost markets, or even to hold what markets still remain open to domestic crops, there will be no occasion for either glowing praise for its sponsors or caustic denunciation of its critics. Certainly it is not a subject over which any official can afford to lose his temper. For abuses does not minimize the staggering problems still confronting the AAA.

Loose Ends

What we need is more refined politics—such as they have in Britain—where men are not mercenary—and some history unfolds.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

REFINED POLITICS

SEVERAL fellows have expressed to me the hope that the federal election campaign now under way will be clean and sporting, without mud-slinging and nasty personalities. They hope, they say, that it will be like a campaign in England, where politicians know how to behave like gentlemen. I hope so. If you want a noble example for our politicians in gentlemanly behavior, turn to the British House of Commons during the last two weeks.

For example, the other day Mr. George Lansbury, Labor leader, used the word "corruption" in describing the fact that Mr. Ramsay MacDonald still gets $10,000 a year for his services as Lord President of the Council, while his son, Malcolm, as Colonial Secretary, draws $25,000. Mr. Lansbury said that if any local council had done that for a father and son, there would have been the very devil of a row and Mr. MacDonald would have protested as loudly as anyone.

That $10,000 a year for Malcolm MacDonald, I should think, is a very good deal. The government has by run by Laurel and Hardy. They have changed places and Hardy is now Prime Minister. Then they have brought in a member of the former Prime Minister's family—they have brought in Jackie Coogan as Colonial Secretary. This is nice stuff for our Canadian politicians to imitate. But there was nicer still.

"The passing of the former Prime Minister (Mr. MacDonald) will do no harm," said Mr. George Duggan, an honorable Welsh member. "Some of us would like to read the news in the paper that he had done the best thing that is, go out and hang himself!"

If our Canadian politicians would imitate the genteel parliamentarians in the Mother of Parliaments, the election campaign here should be jolly. If they go on in their own crude colonial fashion, never suggesting that anyone hang himself, the campaign, I fear, is going to be extremely crude and dull.

WEAKER SEX

SOME FELLOW has lately been conducting a scientific investigation to discover why the American woman so often divorces her husband. The results of the inquiry, just published, are somewhat alarming, make a man realize that, after all, he belongs to the gentler sex.

For example, 370 ladies who were asked how long they would like to have their former husbands remain in jail for failure to pay alimony, made this reply: "Until he rots to death."

Thirty-two per cent of the ladies questioned admitted that they had proceeded in the courts against their husbands for revenge. Other ladies explained that their husbands were "stunk," rats, cockroaches, snakes, pigs, bedbugs or lice." One explained that she had put her husband in jail because "he had the grace of a hippopotamus, the brain of a gnat, looked like a giraffe, stung like a wasp, had the personality of a dead salmon and smelled like a stable full of dead horses."

About 63 per cent of the women were well satisfied to have their husbands in jail and preferred that action to the mere receipt of alimony. After that, the experts said, it is absurd to argue that women are inhuman and sadistic and monstrous mercenaries. They are ruthless, cruel, but, thank heaven, they aren't mercenary.

In the summer of 1935 Europe discovered the existence of a country named Ethiopia which, up to that time, had escaped general notice. It was a large but unimportant country of negroes on the eastern side of Africa where slavery, squalor and bare-footed barbarism flourished under a king called the Conquering Lion of Judah. No one paid any attention to Ethiopia until an obscure Italian despot called Mussolini—whose first name and record have been lost—decided that he needed Ethiopia as a source of raw materials and as a market for his surplus goods, since his own people were getting hungry and destitute because they had too many.

"Accordingly, some Italians were conveniently insulted on the border by some Ethiopians and to save the national honor, Italy invaded Ethiopia. This, in turn, involved Japan, since several Japanese had settled in Ethiopia. A secret treaty between France and Italy having been discovered, which covered among other things the partition of Austria, France could not remain neutral. Owning the Suez Canal, England likewise was immediately concerned and this brought in her new friend and ally, Germany.

"Obviously there was only one thing for France to do, and that was to attack Germany while England was preoccupied. Italy, however, was unable to engage in a long-distance war in Ethiopia. Japan satisfied itself by launching a campaign against Russia in the east, while Russia attacked Germany in the west. The purpose of the war, as explained by all leading statesmen, was to end all wars.

"In Canada a patriotic people immediately saw its duty. A wave of enthusiasm for Ethiopia swept the country and it gladly plunged into war to defend the honor of that noble nation. Ethiopian clubs sprang up in every city, with Conquering Lions of Judah at the head of each and with a leading negro as president. In the United States society girls gave the nation a fine example by marrying negroes, while older women adopted negro children, and a negro was elected president.

"Lynching of negroes was temporarily suspended in the southern states. Black became the style for all kinds of dresses and bands blared the inspiring patriotic song, 'Ethiopia, Here We Come!' The eating of macaroni and spaghetti was made a capital offense.

HONOR

THE WHOLE North American continent quickly perceived that its interests and its honor were directly involved for it could not ship ammunition and war materials to the warring nations at huge profits without danger of losing its ships on the high seas by submarine attack. And it was clear to all that if Ethiopia lost the war the Italian militarists would overrun the world and this continent would be invaded.

"In the end the Allies triumphed and Ethiopia's honor and independence were saved; but the Allies thought it wise to place the country under a British protectorate.

"Canada lost 100,000 dead in the war but felt it had been well worth while. The pensions given the widows and orphans of the slain and to the wounded were later reduced, but no one objected to this, since Ethiopia was now free, under a strong protectorate. The national debt at the end of the war was $20,000,000,000, but was repudiated in order that Canada, along with the United States, could loan France and Italy enough money to buy Canadian and American products. As had been expected, these loans were not repaid, but as Canada and the United States had got rid of their products, the loss of the money didn't matter. It prevented a surplus of goods at home where the people were destitute.

THANKS

To the Editor:—We shall be very pleased if you will kindly publish this letter of thanks to all those who have in one way or another assisted in making the joint Canadian Labor Defence League and unemployed picnic a success.

We are deeply indebted to the small business people of Victoria who have donated liberally to this affair, and the picnic committee feels that its efforts were well rewarded in the successful outcome of the day's outing, which was enjoyed by both children and adults.

Without the prizes, candies, ice cream, etc., and the necessary services of trucks and truck drivers (all donated), there could have been little hope for an enjoyable day. Children and adults enthusiastically participated in the varied sports events and the day was carried to a pleasant conclusion by the splendid musical numbers of Frank Lavery's novelty band.

Once again we thank all donors and those who have helped to make this picnic a success.

Secretary, Canadian Labor Defence League, Victoria Branch.

GOOD LIGHTS, BEER AND LIGHT WINES

To the Editor:—I, together with many others, view with alarm the inevitable outcome of Vancouver Island on her last legs as a tourist resort, unless the "Special Powers Act" is put into force at once on these two important requirements. It is not necessary for a publicity under the Special Powers Act for the latter, and as a matter of fact it is not necessary under the "Liquor Act." The Attorney-General is clothed with full power to do this.

QUINT. KITTENS
FOR THE DIONNES

Quebec, July 30.—The five kittens received by the Dionne family and given as playthings to the brothers and sisters of the Dionne quintuplets were born in one litter in this district on the first anniversary of the famous sisters.

Jet black and perfectly formed, the kittens attracted the attention of Dr. Tancred Fiset of Quebec, who arranged their shipment to Callander in the hope they could become playmates of Yvonne, Cecile, Annette, Emilie and Marie.

Swimming League
Will Hold Dance

The Vancouver Island Swimming League are showing their forwardness, for already they are holding a dance in order to raise funds for the Olympic Games to be held in 1936.

On Friday evening, August 2, they will stage a dance at the Crystal Gardens. Reg Wood's popular orchestra will be in attendance to supply the music for the merrymakers.

The league is making an appeal to all sportsmen to support them in this drive.

BRIDEGROOM

Mr. Patrick J. Mulcahy Weds
Miss Dorothy Kieser of Chilliwack

Vancouver, July 30.—The deep ivory of the bride's robe and the Marina blue of attendants' frocks formed a charming color combination for the wedding of wide interest that was solemnized in St. Paul's Anglican Church on Saturday evening.

The bride was Dorothy May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Kieser of Chilliwack, who was united in marriage by Canon Harold King to Mr. Patrick J. Mulcahy, youngest son of Major and Mrs. A. Mulcahy of Esquimalt.

LOVELY LACE
Imported Brussels lace fashioned the lovely wedding gown of the bride, whose skirt fullness descended into a deep train.

A filmy veil of ivory tulle fell from a coronet of orange blossoms to cover the entire train of the dress. The coronet had been worn by the bride's great-grandmother, grandmother and mother at their weddings. Repture roses were a colorful note of contrast.

Mrs. Frank Kieser, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Kathleen Mulcahy, sister of the groom, were the bridesmaids, and during the signing of the register Miss Kieser sang "My Prayer," accompanied at the organ by Mr. George Bulfin.

Both feminine attendants were gowned alike in Marina blue lace, slightly on train and made with long sleeves, while wide esches were of coral silk velvet, tied in bows at the back with streamers. Their picture hats were also blue, fashioned of stitched organza, and the dress clips of coral and brilliant completed the picture, together with harmonizing bouquets in pastel tones.

RECEPTION HELD
The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Hewitt, 3505 West Twenty-sixth, was lent for the reception that followed the ceremony.

WEDDINGS

STUBBS-MONCRIEFF

The marriage took place on Saturday, July 27, at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. W. G. Alexander, of George William Stubbs, Courtenay, V.I., only son of Mrs. Mary Stubbs, Victoria, and the late Frank Stubbs, to Dorothy Isabelle, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Moncrieff, 3155 West Thirteenth Avenue, Vancouver.

BARBER-McGREGOR

At the Metropolitan Church manse on Saturday evening, Rev. F. F. Church united in marriage Georgina Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. McGregor, 1235 Styles Street, and Mr. Leslie Barber, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Barber, 542 Ellice Street.

The bride, who wore her traveling suit of blue angora wool with white accessories, and a corsage bouquet of rosebuds and swansonia, was attended by Miss Winnie Jenkinson, in a similar suit in a rust shade, with white accessories and a corsage bouquet of Columbia roses and sweet peas. The best man was Mr. Milton Brown.

A small reception for relatives and a few intimate friends was held after the service at the family home. After a honeymoon on the mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Barber will make their home in Victoria.

WOMAN LAWYER GIVES VIEWS

Dorothy Frooks of New York to Investigate Alaska Colony

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 30.—Miss Dorothy Frooks, New York lawyer-author, sailed from here last night en route to Alaska, where she hopes "to find what's the matter" with the Matanuska valley colonization scheme in which 1,000 mid-west United States families were settled this year.

"They aren't happy, and I want to know why," Miss Frooks said. "I am going to see the governor at Juneau, and then fly to the colony."

She defended Senator Huey Long of Louisiana.

"Huey Long is a real man," she said. "You hear only the ridicule that the press agents of the big corporations have spread against him. You don't hear what he has done for Louisiana. Huey Long is afraid of nobody, and he fights for the people's rights."

"He was a poor boy who, like Abraham Lincoln, had to walk ten miles for a book, and he did it. He vowed if he ever had power he would provide his people with good roads and free education. He has done just that, and he has broken the grip of some of the biggest corporations in the world in his native state."

"Judge Huey Long by what his neighbors say of him. That is how I found out the kind of man he is."

Miss Frooks is a Democrat, but she said she disapproves of President Roosevelt's "patronage" appointments and more particularly of his policy of taxing the people directly for food in order to raise the price of food that the taxpayers must buy for the unemployed.

After being defeated in the Democratic primaries in New York state last election, she ran for Congress on the "law preservation" ticket, but was defeated. She said she will run again probably as a "third party" candidate.

"Politics is everybody's business, and if everybody would attend to his business there would be no dirty politics," she said. "What I am out to destroy is special privilege. If we had no special privilege we'd have no under-privileged people."

GOV.-GENERAL'S NEPHEW WED

Distinguished Guests at Smart London Ceremony
To-day

Canadian Press Cable
London, July 30.—More than 500 distinguished guests attended an Anglo-American wedding in the old church of St. Clement Danes, Strand, to-day, when Marjorie Glasgow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Glasgow, became the bride of Amrose Christian Congreve, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Congreve of Waterford, Ireland.

The bride's father is a distinguished United States engineer now living in London. The bridegroom is a nephew of Lord Bessborough, retiring Governor-General of Canada.

Although the London season is over, the wedding was a brilliant social affair, the guests, including the Princess Marie Louise, cousin of His Majesty, R. W. Bingham, United States Ambassador; Baron Cartier de Marchiennes, Belgian Ambassador, and the Baroness, the Duchess of Hamilton, the Duke of St. Albans, and Manuel Malbran, Argentine Ambassador, and Mrs. Malbran.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of heavy ivory satin with close-fitting bodice, with little trimming.

St. Clement Danes is the church of the old nursery rhyme: "Oranges and lemons, the bells of St. Clements."

A BONNY LITTLE VANCOUVERITE

Ian is the bonny little year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. White, of Spurling Avenue, Vancouver, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Teddie Allen, St. Patrick Street, Oak Bay. His mother was the former Dorothy Winder of Victoria.

PARIS SHOWS
PLAIN FROCKS

Sculptured Silhouette, With Shorter Skirt, Newest For Winter

Paris, July 30.—Modern sculptured silhouettes, with "youth" as their slogan, appeared to-day at the first winter fashion showings.

The frocks were the plainest Paris has shown in years. The skirts were rather narrow, thirteen inches from the ground. The necklines were with high bodices, the waists slender, and the sleeves long.

Marcel Rochas showed day costumes of wool, combining green with cerise. Hats generally were high crowned, with sports felts having narrow brims.

In 1873 there were 3,000,000 unemployed out of a total United States population of approximately 40,000,000.

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

He forced me back and around the room until he stood between me and the doorway, and then, having me where no chance for escape remained, he set to work to finish me with his dagger. The duel, as far as I was concerned, was fought wholly on the defensive. So swift and persistent was his attack that I could only defend myself, and not once in the first two minutes of the encounter did I aim a single blow at him.

I wondered what had become of the men who had accompanied me; but pride would not permit me to call upon them for help, nor did I learn until later that it would have availed me nothing, since they were having all that they could attend to in repelling the attack of several officers who had run up from below.

The teeth of my antagonist were bared in a grim and ferocious smile, as he battered relentlessly at my guard, as though he already sensed victory and was gloating in anticipation. The clanging of steel on steel now drowned all sounds from beyond the four walls of the cabin where we fought; I could not tell if fighting were continuing in other parts of the ship, nor, if it were, whether it were going in our favor or against us. I realized that I must know these things, that I was responsible for whatever took place aboard the Sovong, and that I must get out of that cabin and lead my men either in victory or defeat.

Such thoughts made my position even more impossible than as though only my life were at stake and drove me to attempt heroic measures against my adversary, and I must do so at once!

He had me now with my back almost against the wall. Already his point had touched me upon the cheek once and twice upon the body, and though the wounds were but scratches, I was covered with blood. Now he leaped upon me in a frenzy of determination to have done with me instantly, but this time I did not fall back. I parried his cut, so that his sword passed to the right of my body which was now close to his; and then I drew back my point, and before he could recover himself, drove it through his heart.

As he sagged to the floor, I jerked my sword from his body and ran from his cabin. The entire episode had required but a few minutes, though it had seemed much longer to me, yet in that brief time much had occurred on the decks and in the cabins of the Sovong. The upper decks were cleared of living enemies; one of my own men was at the wheel, another at the controls; there was still fighting on the main deck where some of the Sovong's officers were making a desperate last stand with a handful of their men. But by the time I reached the scene of the battle, it was over; the officers, assured by Kamlot that their lives would be spared, had surrendered—the Sovong was ours. The Sofal had taken her first prize!

CHAPTER XXVII

As I sprang into the midst of the excited warriors on the main deck, I must have presented a sorry specimen.

B.C. Track and Field Championships Here August 28

THE SPORTS MIRROR

GREAT BRITAIN will hold the Davis Cup for another twelve months, following the smashing victory of the English players at Wimbledon. Any set of invaders will have a hard time lifting the Davis Cup from the Wimbledon mantlepiece as long as Fred Perry retains his health and high spirits. Since the war, the history of the Davis Cup is that lifting or holding the big silver bowl is largely a one-man job, even in team competition.

The country with the No. 1 amateur player of the tennis world is the country that holds the cup. While Bill Tilden was the reigning monarch of the courts, the United States held the cup. When Bill grew older and showed up a little through the wear and tear of continued tournament play, Rene Lacoste took his place as the No. 1 tennis player of the world, and France took the Davis Cup.

Lacoste's health failed, but Henri Cochet moved to the front as the best of the amateur tennis stars. If Ellsworth Vines had stayed in the amateur ranks it's possible the big bowl would have returned to the United States. But Ellsworth hopped over to the pro side and Fred Perry came bounding along to establish himself as top man of tennis. That's how England took the cup and is holding the cup. It will be hard to get it away while Fred is flicking the white lines with his swift shots.

If for no other reason than that Babe Ruth does not appear in the outfield or Hal Chase or George Slaughter at first base, Fred Clarke's all-time major league club is worth publishing.

Clarke names Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, and Rube Waddell as pitchers. The famous flycatcher who managed the Pittsburgh Pirates to four National League pennants stops there. Because he knows just how far he could win the flag in either major league nowadays, three hurriers of this type, no doubt.

Clarke's catcher is Johnny Kling. He places Fred Tenney, of the Boston Braves, at first base; Napoleon Lajoie at second; Honus Wagner at shortstop; and Jimmy Collins, of the Boston Red Sox, at third. The outfielders are Tris Speaker, Ty Cobb, and Ed Delahanty, of the old Phillies.

"It was a home run or nothing for Ruth and it takes more than home runs to win," explains Clarke, in giving his reasons for putting the Bambino in his lineup.

Clarke had experience with the lively ball, too, for it was in vogue when he returned as a sort of manager emeritus of the Bucs ten years ago.

"Ruth never was the fielder or base-runner that he should have been to be named on an all-time team," he asserts.

Delahanty, who crowds out Ruth, was one of the most formidable long distance hitters in the annals of the business.

"Tenney was faster and a better hitter than Frank Chance," elucidates Clarke, dismissing Chase and Slaughter and the current first basing stars, Bill Terry, Lou Gehrig, and Jimmy Fox.

Although Clarke was—and still is—a staunch National Leaguer, six of the eleven men he picks spent their careers in the American league.

Clarke considers Wagner the finest player of all time. Old Honus moved with Clarke as the renowned Tommy Leach when the Louisville franchise was switched to Pittsburgh in 1900.

Clarke rates the Pirates, present pilot of the Pirates, the second best third baseman in the history of the game.

Mathewson, in Clarke's opinion, was the foremost "clutch" pitcher of them all.

Clarke, sixty-two now, and in perfect health and wealthy, divides his time between his ranch near Winfield, Kan., and Colorado fishing streams.

American League players suspect that Johnny Allen, the New York Yankees' remarkable comeback, is doing something with the ball, but no one seems to know exactly what it is.

Luke Sewell calls Allen's performance against the Chicago White Sox the other afternoon the grandest he ever witnessed.

"I've seen no-hit games, too," declares Sewell, "but that one topped them all. We hit only four balls hard during the entire game."

Al Simmons' trouble is that he cannot get his body behind his swing and as a result does not swing out-

Cream of Province To Run In Meet of Civic Federation

Vancouver, Powell River, Up-island and Mainland Stars to Compete

Event Listed At Macdonald Park

Victoria's Civic Federation sports, scheduled for Macdonald Park on August 28, assumed championship proportions to-day with the announcement by officials in charge of the meet all open events would be for British Columbia titles.

The statement carried with it the assurance the event would draw teams of outstanding men from all parts of the province where track and field performers have Olympic trials aspirations.

The announcement followed receipt of sanction from John Muter, president of the British Columbia Track and Field Association for the event. Mr. Muter visited Victoria last week-end and asked the local association to take over the title events this year.

Following preliminary conferences on Saturday and a joint meeting on Sunday, an agreement was reached by the local sponsors and the track and field head, who returned to Vancouver to make final arrangements for the event.

BIGGEST IN DECADE

The meet will be the biggest staged here in at least a decade. Track and field activities in British Columbia have come to the fore during the last two or three years, as they have seldom done before, and the revived interest in the sport is expected to find expression in particularly large entries from Vancouver, Powell River, possibly Kelowna and Penticton, from island points and other centres in British Columbia.

The programme will be exceptionally well rounded. All three sprints, the 100, 220 and 440 yards, the half mile and mile runs, the half-mile relay, 120-yard high hurdles, broad and high jumps, pole vault, javelin throw, discus and sixteen-pound shot contests will be included in the list of events.

The feature will follow a series of races staged specifically for members of the Civic Federation, including both inside and outside stars, the firemen and the policemen.

Highland dancing and possibly piping contests will add color to the meet.

Under tentative plans the programme will start with a pipe parade from the city to the playing field. Races will start there at 1:30 o'clock. The Civic Federation events will be run off by 3 o'clock and the major features will get under way at that time.

Joe Addison, who will fill a double role as Victoria's ace performer and favorite of the Civic Federation, of which he is a member, will lead a strong local team into the field. Bill Dale, Chuck Cunningham, Paul Rowe, Owen Bentley, Freddy Smith, Henry Rowe, Jim Cousins, and possibly Art Chapman will form the nucleus of the Victoria contingent which will be strengthened with several other performers whose abilities are not yet fully proved.

UP-ISLANDERS COMING

Nanaimo and Duncan stars will be down with other up-island runners in an effort to stave off the attacks of the brilliant mainland challengers whose members are expected to include Allan Poole, Kelowna's British Empire Games performer; Marshall Limon, Martin Naylor, Vince Forbes and many other Vancouver and Powell River boys.

On paper the meet promises to be the outstanding track and field feature of the province this season.

The set up locally will be arranged by the federation leaders with the assistance of Archie McKinnon, Flying Y coach, and Gordie Woolridge, representative here of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

Early indications promise sports followers here a meet of the calibre which used to thrill track and field enthusiasts in the halcyon days of Hal Beasley and Cecil Hay.

EAGLES DRUB SONS EASILY

Hand Canadians 9 to 1 Set-back as Juvenile Pitcher Makes Senior Ball Debut

Making the most of his allowed by Doug Bonk, as well as his passes, Eagles drubbed Sons of Canada 9 to 1 in the Senior Baseball League fixture played at the Athletic Park yesterday evening.

During the time Bonk twirled, the Eagles pushed over all their runs, scoring two in the first, four in the second and three in the third frame. The Sons garnered their only tally off Proudlove in the first inning.

"Sonny" Walker, relieving Byrne in the fourth, held the birchen down for the remainder of the encounter. Poor fielding played a big part in the pitcher's defeat.

After Proudlove had worked two innings, the Eagles sent in fifteen-year-old Louie Leonard, recruit from the Juvenile League, who showed outstanding promise as he kept four safeties scattered to avoid any further runs, in his debut in the Senior League.

The game was called at the end of the fifth, after one hour and thirty-five minutes' play. Roy Barnes umpired.

IOWAN SETS LINKS PACE

Lloyd Nordstrom Leads in U.S. Public Links Tournament With a 71

Indianapolis, July 30.—One Swede tramped through the weeds (and trees and lakes, too) to momentary glory in golf yesterday.

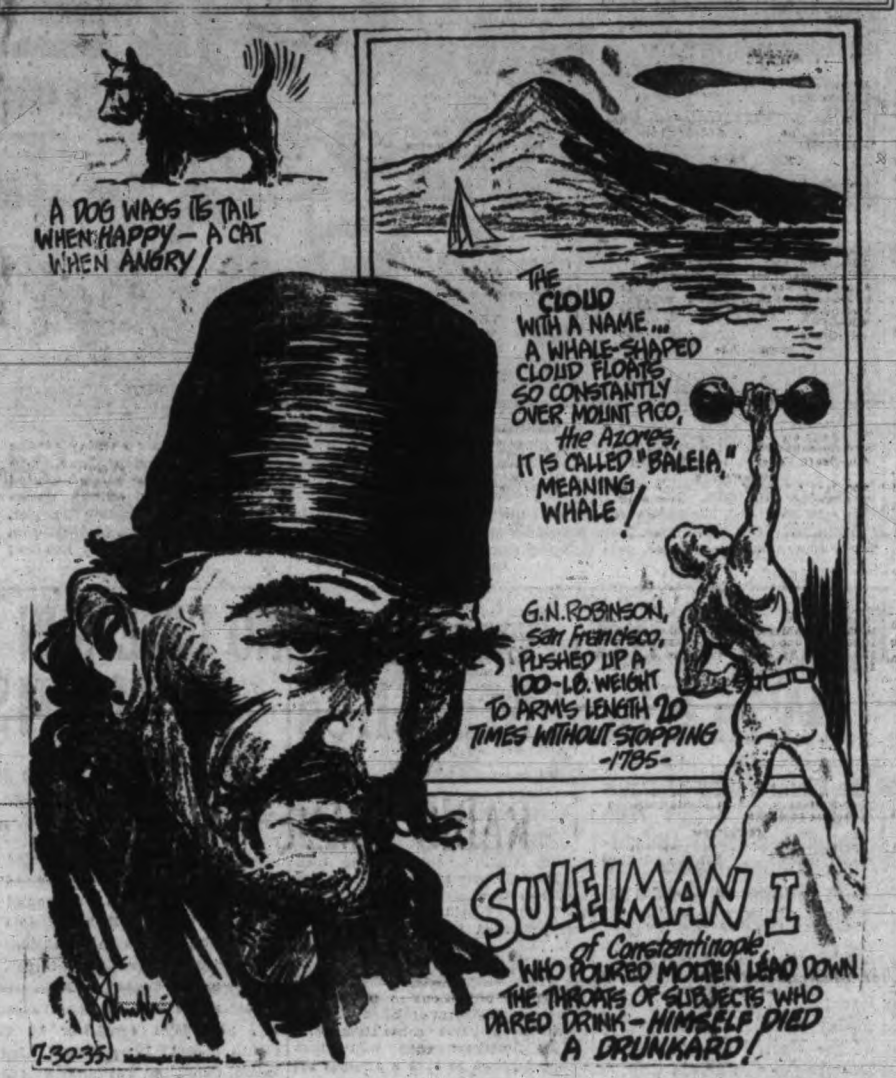

A fatalistic man of thirty-one, with no fears of the reputation and pitfalls of the dreaded "Coffin" course, which took a heavy toll of shots, Lloyd Nordstrom, Davenport, Iowa, became "king for a day" of the nation's municipal marksmen by scoring a 71, one over par, to take a three-shot lead in the big struggle for the medal of the national public links golf championship.

Deadlocked for second place with 74 came a quintette, most of them from the opposite side of the continent—Claude Hippy, a Washington, D.C., clerk; Delbert Walker, Long Beach, Cal., and two Portland, Ore. stars, Louis Cyr and Tab Boyer. Pele Doll, Louisville, was the fifth, sending Louisville ahead in the team fight with a 300 total, strung behind them were 191 more starters, whose scores ranged from 75 upward to the century mark, among them Dave Mitchell, Indianapolis' defending champion, who needed 77 blows to tour the course to-day.

Scotty Campbell, Seattle, scored 76, and his fellow townsman, Harry Umbinetti, had a 75. Steve Kipper and Bob Gourlay, both of Seattle, turned in cards of 83.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

Suleiman I, ruler of Constantinople, was an ardent prohibitionist who did not practice what he preached. He was so radically against the use of liquor that he caused every ship entering the harbor bearing any wine at all to be burned to the water. A monstrous way of punishing his own subjects who drank was also devised by him—he poured molten lead down their throats. Suleiman, however, is one of history's greatest hypocrites—for he died a drunkard.

Domesticated dogs wag their tails to show pleasure. Wild dogs do not have this habit. Cats, however, tame and wild alike, nervously twitch their tails to show anger, displeasure, or tenseness. Naturalists explain that in the transition of dogs from wild to domesticated state, they lost much of the wariness of their wild brothers, no longer needing to hold their tail close to the body out of range of a chance enemy. A persistence of instinct may be noted in tame dogs—they still duck their tail between their legs when pursued or punished.

AL ZIMMERMAN OUT IN FRONT

Sets Pace in Washington State Open Golf With 36-hole Score of 137

Bellingham Golf Club, Bellingham, July 30.—Although it looked like a new champion would be crowned in the windup of the Washington state open golf tournament to-day, the big trophy might not move farther than the length of the fireplace mantel in the Zimmerman home in Portland.

While brother Emory Zimmerman, the defending champion, was playing too bad to do himself any good, brother Al Zimmerman was playing too good for the rest of the field of fifty.

Al boomed around yesterday's thirty-six holes in 137, five under par.

DUNDEE MADE BOUT CHOICE

Reigns 10 to 8 Favorite to Whip Freddie Steele at Seattle To-night

Seattle, July 30.—Pacific Northwest's favorite fighting son, Freddie Steele, Tacoma, ranked as an outstanding challenger on the western slope, for the middleweight championship, gets his big chance here to-night.

Steele will clash with Vince Dundee, who lost the lightweight crown to Teddy Yarosz a year ago. If Steele can win this bout he will have his choice on a number of contracts already drawn up by eastern promoters.

The Tacoma youth is given a good chance of upsetting the visitor although the betting fraternity has established Dundee a 10 to 8 favorite.

Steele's backers claim he is in good condition. When he stopped training Saturday he tipped the scales at 159 pounds. Dundee weighs 155 pounds.

FATE GIVES KRESS BREAK

Hits Ball With Terrific Power For Washington on Recall From Minors

Washington, July 30.—Fate, through an angry umpire, retracted its minor league sentence for Ralph Kress five days ago and started what may prove the years best comeback story.

Waived by other major league teams, and handed a one-way ticket to the minors, the red-haired Washington infielder saw his dreams crash about him last Wednesday. Nine years as a major leaguer were over.

Then fate relented.

Umpire Charles Donnelly, riled by Buddy Myers' protests against his decisions, sent the Washington captain to the showers during a game with Cleveland. The Senators were in dire need of an infielder.

They called old Red back.

It was his last chance and he knew it. He banged out four hits for a perfect day at bat. Since regaining that new lease on life he has batted an even .500.

There is no thought of his going to the bush leagues now. He is a regular infielder and will be as long as his bat lashes out with the power it did a few years ago when he was a star with St. Louis.

Free Scoring Marks Softball Matches

Clubs playing yesterday evening in the Lower Island Softball Association's knockout cup fixtures feature free scoring. Poodle Dog Cafe nine, B section champions, handed the C.C.F. squad, a 20 to 5 trouncing at Central Park.

Battling in Poodle Dog Cafe cup fixtures, Brunson's Boys, A section titleholders, sniped under the Civil Service nine by a 20 to 6 score at Bullen Park, while the Hudson's Bay squad went down to defeat at the hands of the Hollywood Club at Central Park, 10 to 0.

In the Calver Cup competition, Young Liberals defeated the Maple Leafs, 16 to 11, at Spencer's Park, and the Civic Staff won from the Navy at Admiral's Road, 18 to 10. Krages, noted out James Island in a closely-contested match at Memorial Park, 6 to 5.

Nanaimo Sports Leader Requests Forms; Bobby Mathewson, Winner Last Year, Optimistic For Saturday's Times Race From Gorge to Causeway

Up-island applications for entry forms to-day indicated at least one Nanaimo contestant in The Times swim from the Gorge to the Causeway on Saturday. Pete Maffeo, sports leader in the Coast City, phoned in his request for forms for up-island contenders as the late flow of entries started in here.

Ken Campbell, young local boy, is the latest to file his form with the paper, while several others have reported their intention of participating in the event but have not yet posted their entries.

To date those who are virtually sure of competing in the grand include Bobby Mathewson, winner last year; Denny Walker, a previous victor; Bob Lawrence, husky Pacific Club swimmer; Eleanor Peden from the same group; Betty Barnhart, Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club and Bob Smiri, young Y.M.C.A. star.

In town over the week-end, Walker announced his intention of competing, but has not yet filed his entry. Provided he does sign on the dotted line he will probably enter the swim in the cold water off Gonzales Bay, he will have no difficulty in making the distance at a steady clip.

There is very little chance the record established by George Burrows, Vancouver, in 1921, will be broken. Burrows, swimming with a favorable tide, negotiated the "three miles in fifty-four minutes, thirty-eight and one-fifth seconds. This year, as last, the swimmers will not enjoy the benefit of the tide as they make their way from warm water to the chilly harbor.

England-South Africa Draw In Fourth Test Cricket Match

Latter Put On 169 For Two At Close of Play

England Had Scored 231 For Six Declared in Second Innings

AFRICANS STILL LEAD IN SERIES

Canadian Press
Manchester, Eng., July 30.—England and South Africa played another drawn game in the fourth of the series of five test cricket matches between the countries. In the match concluded to-day the home players compiled 357 and 231 for six wickets, declared, the Springboks responding with 318 and 169 for two wickets, when play halted.

The South Africans are still leading the series with one victory in the four matches. The other three have been drawn.

The South Africans made no attempt to get the runs necessary for victory, preferring to make sure a draw. With Mitchell playing the defensive brand of cricket for which he is noted, the batting was dull. He took two hours to score nineteen runs.

Viljoen finally was dismissed before wicket by Robins; the second wicket falling for 103. A. D. Nourse joined Mitchell and the score gradually mounted. The pair were still batting when 150 was reached.

The wicket still favored the batsmen when Alfred Bakeswell and Wilfred Barber resumed play for England with the overnight score at forty-three for one wicket. The young players hit out but excellent fielding kept down the runs.

Barber was finally bowled by Vincent for forty-four with the score at ninety for two wickets and Bakeswell left twenty runs later with his total at fifty-four. He hit four boundaries.

England's last forning game, Maurice Leyland scored thirty-seven in thirty-five minutes before he was caught by Bruce Mitchell, fielding in the slips. Wally Hammond also opened his shoulders but R. W. V. Robins in his effort to get runs took plenty of risks.

The 200 went up in two hours fifty minutes. Robins was finally caught at mid-off for fourteen and the fifth wicket also fell at 200. Maurice Tate being bowled by Vincent.

When lunch was taken and the declaration made Hammond had scored sixty-three and R. W. V. Robins, the England captain, fifteen.

SLOW SCORING
Runs came slowly in the last stage of the match. The first South African wicket fell just before tea when E. A. B. Rowan had scored forty-nine runs. Bruce Mitchell and Kenneth Viljoen were together at the adjournment.

The easy Mitchell had scored only nineteen runs while Viljoen had one. Score card:

Perry and Austin Win Final Matches

Make Clean Sweep of Davis Cup Tennis Series With United States By Defeating Wilmer Allison and Don Budge in Second Singles Engagements

Canadian Press
Wimbledon, July 30.—Great Britain's tennis aces to-day completed the route of the United States challengers for the Davis Cup, finishing the challenge round with a 5 to 0 record as the defending Britons took both the last singles matches.

Fred Perry and H. W. (Bunny) Austin each won their second engagements in four sets. Perry downed Wilmer Allison, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3, after Austin had conquered young Donald Budge by 6-2, 6-4, 6-8, 7-5.

The Britons wound up a most magnificent defence of the great trophy they won from France in 1933, and held against the United States last year, by handing the Americans the first white-washing they have received in the Davis Cup in twenty-four years.

It was the first complete sweep for Britain since 1905, when they took all five matches from the United States, and to fill out the record, it was Britain's eighth victory since the cup was instituted in 1900.

SHAKE HONORS
Perry and Austin, who accounted for four points between them, shared the honors of the sweeping victory with the veteran George Patrick Hughes and young and powerful Raymond Tuckey, who sprang a major surprise yesterday when they toppled the favored United States combination of Allison and Johnny van Ryn in a stirring five-set doubles match, scoring the deciding victory.

Immediately after the Allison-Perry match was over, members of the rival Davis Cup team watched the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes carried to the middle of the centre court for presentation of the trophy by Princess Helena Victoria, sister of King George.

All members of the teams and their captains, besides Gene Mako and Sidney B. Wood Jr., United States players who did not get into action, lined up and made their bow to the elderly princess before she handed the big trophy to Roper Barrett, captain of the winning team.

The crowd then joined in three rousing hip-hip-hurrahs and officially closed the event.

Austin started the match with the obvious intention of beating Budge with his long-winded baseline game. Austin got the break in the fourth game when Budge netted three in succession off his backhand. That was all the steady Briton needed to take the set full of long, dull rallies, but Austin broke the redhead in the final game for good measure.

Austin won the second set 6-4, giving him a lead of two sets to none. They played colorless tennis in the first four games of the second set, lined up and made their bow to the elderly princess before she handed the big trophy to Roper Barrett, captain of the winning team.

LETHBRIDGE WINS MATCH

Defeats Saskatoon 3 to 0 in First Game of Dominion Soccer Playdowns

Lethbridge, July 30.—Lethbridge Supinas started off on the right foot yesterday evening in their Dominion Football Association interprovincial playdown series with the Saskatoon Thistles, drubbing the Saskatchewan team, 3 to 0.

The clubs will meet in the second game of the round to-night, with a third tilt Thursday if necessary.

The winners held a wide edge on the play throughout and the Thistles appeared handclapped by the fast pitch. Supinas bagged one goal in the first half and two in the closing chapter.

George Ure scored the Supinas' first half tally and Jim Hadley and Bill Knight, who replaced Ure, due to an injury, got the others.

Winnipeg, July 30.—Port William Westford Wanderers took the lead yesterday evening in their Dominion Football Association interprovincial playdown duel with United Western. The Northern Ontarians defeated the Manitoba titlists, 2 to 0, in the first of a three-game series.

Bill Nesbitt, fleet lakehead wingman, scored both goals in the second half. Fast play, productive of rapid exchanges, featured the scoreless first half. The second game will be played to-night.

Sydney, N.S., July 30.—Canada's premier marathoner, Bob Rankin, Preston, Ont., won the ten-mile race here yesterday, finishing 100 yards ahead of Roy Oliver, Trenton, N.S., in 52:40. Johnny Kelley, Arlington, Mass., placed third.

Gene Smith, Canadian singles titleholder meets Phil Pearson, Vancouver, yesterday's conqueror of the eighth seeded Doug Imhoff, Long Beach, Calif., but the lanky southerner is conceded a straight-set victory.

In other feature matches of the men's singles, John Law, Pasadena, meets Albert Norris, Boston; Charles Weesner, Berkeley, tackles Doug Cameron, Vancouver, and young Colin Milne, Vancouver star who gave Walter Martin a great battle before passing out of the Canadian title hunt at Victoria last week, is slated to meet Howard Blithen, another Berkeley better.

Only seeded American to see action in the women's singles, Mrs. Catherine Rose, Los Angeles, will meet Mary Code, Vancouver.

Yesterday Weesner defeated C. McCarthy, Vancouver, 6-4, 9-7, and Blithen, downed B. Day, Vancouver, 6-0, 6-1, in second-round matches.

Only upset in the men's singles was the defeat of young Imhoff who dropped a three-set decision to Hayden, 10-8, 3-6, 6-0.

Margaret Osborne, recently-crowned Canadian women's singles titleholder, led the way in the feminine section with a 6-1, 6-3 victory over Miss F. Anderson, Vancouver.

The seventeen-year-old San Francisco star was accompanied into the second round by Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Golda Meyer Gross, Berkeley, who eliminated two Vancouver players.

Mrs. Rose ousted Mrs. E. McCarthy, 6-1, 6-1, and Mrs. Gross defeated Irene Fleming, 6-3, 6-6.

Wrigley Swims Are Given to Kelowna

The Wrigley, B.C. half-mile swims, junior provincial championship, have been awarded to Kelowna for 1935. There will be two swims, one for boys and one for girls, held August 7 in connection with the Kelowna regatta which is slated for August 7 and 8.

The Wrigley half-mile swim trophies were presented to the B.C. Section of the C.A.S.A. by the Wrigley Chewing Gum Co. last year and the first races were held at White Rock, the winners being Molly Wallis, Victoria, and Archie Byers, Vancouver.

The large trophies and gold medals will be presented to the winners of first place. Silver and bronze medals will be presented to the winners of second and third places.

Contests from the lower mainland and Vancouver will be in Kelowna to compete with the local talent. Kelowna regatta is a yearly affair of outstanding aquatic sports events which are well worth a trip to that city whose hospitality is unsurpassed at that time.

Lawn Bowling

A benefit match in aid of the annual holiday tournament will be played at the Crystal Garden bowling greens on the Canadian Pacific Club to-morrow evening. Women and men bowlers are invited to attend. The draw will take place at 7 o'clock.

Cleveland Halts Detroit's Rush

Indians Finally Chalk Up Victory Over Tigers 6 to 5; Slices Detroit's American League Lead Over Idle New York Yankees

All good things must come to an end somewhere, and by the same token, it's a long major league losing streak that has no turning.

So to-day Mickey Cochrane's Detroit Tigers, headed pellmell toward their second straight American League pennant, were rallying around for a fresh start, their mad rush stopped for the moment by the one team that has been easiest for them, Cleveland Indians.

And at the same time Indians, up off the floor for the first time in twelve straight matches with the Bengals, moved on to Chicago, groggy and glad they don't have to play Detroit every day.

For five innings yesterday, in one of the three scattered games in the major leagues, General Alvin Crowder maintained the control Tigers have had over Cleveland most of the season. Cleveland had lost eleven straight to Tigers, three of them in the present series. Tigers led 3 to 0. Cleveland had gotten only three small hits.

The end had to come somewhere, and it came right there as Crowder started hitting the Cleveland bats with singles, doubles and finally Joe Vosmik's triple that drove in the sixth run of the sixth innings, and likewise ended it as Joe was out trying to stretch the belt into a home run. That was all the Indians got, but it was enough to beat the Tigers 6 to 5 and make things more lively for Walter Johnson.

YANKIES IDLE
The defeat cut Tigers' lead over the idle New York Yankees to two and a half games. Chicago White Sox romped home over St. Louis Browns 7 to 2 behind Les Tietje's three-hit pitching, making it three out of four for the series. Sam West hit a home run for the Browns as Chicago hammered the St. Louis pitchers for fourteen hits. Tietje spiced the situation by fooling into a triple play in the ninth. The only game in the National League added more discomfort to the world champions, St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped their third match in a four-game series to Pittsburgh Pirates 3 to 2. Red Lucas far outpitched Bill Hallahan, but a home run by Pepper Martin in the fourth, a two-base error on a fly ball by Paul Waner in the sixth, followed by Whitehead's single, made it close.

A cluster of three singles by Lloyd and Paul Waner and Arkie Vaughan, plus a long fly, counted two for the Pirates in the first while Lloyd Waner drove Padden home with the winning run with the third of another set of three singles in the seventh.

Mr. Ishida's car was in collision with another machine driven by George Bone, 123 Regina Avenue, and after the impact it circled and turned over. K. ## NOW TARGET FOR CRITICS

Attacks Directed at President Roosevelt Personally, Says Nebraska Visitor

Motoring here from Lincoln, Nebraska, a distance of 2,300 miles, A. Ray Edmiston, insurance manager for the Union Central of Cincinnati, is registered at the Empress Hotel to-day. He is accompanied by his wife and their daughter, Janet, and en route here visited his son, Robert, at Portland, Ore.

Discussing the political situation in the south, Mr. Edmiston, a Republican who formerly favored the policies of President Roosevelt, said a strong tide of criticism was now being directed against the president.

"A year ago," he said, "President Roosevelt was immune from criticism, because the people wanted to give him every opportunity to carry his policies through, but now it is different. The attacks are being directed against the president personally."

"The NRA was a business move, and the AAA, which succeeded it, is now having its difficulties," he added. Lincoln is now the home of the city of William Jennings Bryan, and is the geographical centre of the United States.

Charles W. Bryan, brother of the great Democrat, who has just finished his term as governor of the state of Nebraska, is now mayor of the city of Lincoln, and is very popular. Mr. Edmiston states.

Mr. Edmiston and his family will remain in Victoria for several days to see something of the island before returning home via Vancouver.

GARDEN VOTE RESULTS OUT

Ballots of Four Districts of Greater Victoria Counted

McCall Brothers' garden at 832 Johnson Street secured the largest number of votes and first place in the southwest district of Victoria, according to an early count of ballots, whose results were known this morning.

The popular vote on "the gardens that beautify our streets" also gave W. H. Davies, 610 Courtney Street, the first place in the northwest district of Victoria; F. E. Parker of 384 Gorge Road West, first in West Saanich district, and Mrs. E. Lennox, 468 Head Street, first in Esquimalt district.

The results in the four other districts into which greater Victoria was divided are not yet known.

McCall Brothers secured 228 votes in their district, and were 168 votes above their nearest opponent.

THREE THOUSAND VOTED

Altogether 3,000 votes are estimated to have been cast in this garden survey competition, conducted by the Victoria Horticultural Society, according to P. R. Leighton. The balloting was conducted at the society's Summer Flower Show, which ended last Saturday, but due to the popularity of this show, the work of counting the votes has taken a long time and only half the results are known now.

Most of the people only voted in one of the eight districts.

The results of the balloting on the four districts follow:

Northwest Victoria—W. H. Davies, 610 Courtney Street, 131; A. Haggart, 2314 Cook Street, 149; Mrs. O. J. Brown, 1028 Princess Avenue, 70; Mrs. Tachai, 42 Gorge Road, 65; M. Tesaurin, 36 Gorge Road, 24.

Southwest Victoria—McCall Brothers, 832 Johnson Street, 228; H. G. Graham, 204 St. Andrew's Street, 60; Charles Richards, 414 Simcoe Street, 53; Mrs. L. McNutt, 208 Dobinson Street, 57; J. Harvey, 714 Cook Street, 21.

West Saanich—F. E. Parker, 384 Gorge Road West, 156; W. A. Ahlers, 2228 Seaton Road, 95; J. Sarisat, 3317 Tennyson Avenue, 74; A. E. Powell, 225 Mullock Avenue, 52; W. Raines, 3800 Carib Road, 40.

Rev. J. Willemar Died To-day

Well-known Anglican Clergyman Passes at Courtenay

Courtenay, July 29.—Rev. J. X. Willemar, doyen of the Anglican Church in the Diocese of Columbia, passed away this morning at 10.30 o'clock. For the last two years Mr. Willemar has been an invalid and his end was not unexpected.

Mr. Willemar was born in France, his father being a wine grower and distiller. He was educated there but came to Canada at the age of twenty-three. Bishop Hills sent the young Frenchman to Albany to found a mission for the Indians there. After three years there he was transferred to Comox, where he landed in 1871 in a dugout canoe. He built his own vicarage and helped to build the pioneer church of the district at Sandwick, completing it in 1873. He founded churches at Cumberland and Comox and Deanman Island, and was a prominent figure in the community until he retired in 1923. He and Mrs. Willemar celebrated their diamond wedding several years ago. With his gentle smile and whimsical humor, Mr. Willemar was the ideal parish pastor and much more than that he was friend and counsellor to the whole countryside for half a century and more.

Japan Tourist Trade Soaring

The favorable rate of exchange and the intensive publicity campaign of the Japanese Tourist Bureau have led to a large increase in the tourist movement from the North American continent to Japan, said B. G. Ryan, Canadian Pacific general agent in Yokohama, who was on board the R.M.S. Empress of Japan when she docked from the Orient at noon to-day.

Mr. Ryan stated that this year the Canadian Pacific was feeling a notable increase in its passenger business across the Pacific.

DUCHESSES NOT COMING

Rumors that two of the C.P.R. Duchess liners might be brought to the Pacific to take the place of the two older Empresses, the Russia and the Asia, were denied by Mr. Ryan, who stated that the Duchesses, designed to get up the St. Lawrence to Montreal, were not suitable for the Pacific service.

He believed that the Russia and the Asia would be retired in about two years' time and said that he understood that plans had been drawn for two ships to replace them.

Mr. Ryan will remain in Vancouver a few days before proceeding to Montreal. On the way east he will visit the two homes in Ottawa for the first time in four years. Mr. Ryan expects to return to Yokohama in about two months' time.

CONVENTION BILLS LOCAL MAGICIAN

The northwest Moore convention which will be held at Port Angeles on Wednesday until Sunday will draw a representative attendance of members from B.C., Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

The services of Frank Merryfield, "The Cornish Wizard," and master magician, has been secured for two entertainments of different effects when he will show some of his latest illusions which were highly recommended after being seen by some of the Washington delegates.

His clever little daughter, Frances, who is so well-known to Victoria and other audiences, will accompany him. The concert is expected to be one of the biggest ever staged in Port Angeles.

IS LAID TO REST

Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick officiated yesterday afternoon at the funeral of the late Thomas Pinnell, at which many sympathizing friends were present. The hymns sung were "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Peace, Perfect Peace." The casket was draped with the Union Jack, and many beautiful floral offerings were received.

The following were the pallbearers: A. L. Kirkpatrick, J. W. Le Huquet, A. E. Nix and W. M. Young. The remains were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

FINE GAINS IN ARREARS

City Collections to Date $11,260 Above Corresponding Period Last Year

Keeping pace with increased returns from tax prepayments this year, collections of arrears from January 2 to date stood approximately $11,260 ahead of those for the first seven months of 1934, it was revealed by officials of the assessor-collectors office to-day.

With a day and one-half still to go when figures were compiled, arrears collections for the first seven months of the current year stood at approximately $104,600 against $93,340 for the similar period in 1934.

July collections, minus a day and one-half this year, showed an increase of about $2,000 over those of the corresponding month last year, the figures being $19,300 against $17,311.

UP OVER JUNE

Not only did the month show a considerable gain over July of 1934, but an even greater jump when compared with June of this year. Last month arrears collections were $5,564 below those of the current month to date, the June total being $15,736.

The arrears for which totals were given included one year old, two year old and general delinquent accounts.

BIG MOMENTS IN MOTOR TRIP

Rev. E. F. Church Tells of Thrills of Transcontinental Journey

"My biggest moment was when I went home to the little town of Smith's Falls, Ontario, to the place where I was born and the swimming hole I used to visit so often," said Rev. E. F. Church, in a talk on "Big Moments in a Motor Trip" delivered at the Kiwanis Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

"I determined to paddle across the falls as I had done so many times when a youngster," Mr. Church continued. "And, believe it or not, I did it, even though I nearly drowned."

In his trip across the continent, in which he covered 8,188 miles, Mr. Church described the wonderful panoramas of mountains and hills constantly unfolding to the motorist.

"One of the most thrilling moments," the speaker declared, "was when we drove at sixty-five miles an hour for a whole hour. I never believed that we could go at such a speed in such comfort and happiness, but such is the wonder of modern engineering now that I just leaned back in my seat and enjoyed it."

His children took command of the trip, Mr. Church said, and it was quite different to other holidays. Before he did the ordering around, now he was ordered around.

"You can die exceeding the speed limit," he said, in remarking on the few accidents he saw on his journey. "But you can also die exceeding the fuel limit."

The great dangers of the road were "hic, hike and hug." The drunkard was always a menace, and swerving away from hikers caused difficulties, while no man could drive at his best with only one arm.

A citizen of the east impressed Mr. Church. He thought Ottawa was a most fitting capital for the Dominion.

"There have been many cynical things said about the Prime Minister," he said. "One man in Ottawa said to me, 'See that man over there talking to himself. Well, that's Bennett having a cabinet meeting.'"

"Of course, I realize that Mr. Bennett is a bit of an individualist, but then he is a bachelor," Mr. Church added.

New York impressed the speaker as a giant with its tentacles stretching out hundreds of miles around. As one approached the city one was filled with the dominance of mankind in the size of this mighty city.

Dr. T. W. A. Gray, head of the education committee of the Kiwanis Club, introduced Mr. Church and acted as chairman during the course of the programme.

T. H. Edick, secretary of the Tourist Trade Development Association, on behalf of the mayor, invited all members of the Kiwanis to the mass meeting in the City Temple on Friday evening.

Rowan W. MacKenzie introduced to Kiwanis visitors Al Ramsdale of Detroit and Harry McLean of Vancouver. He also congratulated Len Acres on his marriage.

James Fulton, R.R. No. 3, Holland Avenue, was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital in the police ambulance this morning following a heart attack on Port Street, outside the Pemberton Building. Mr. Fulton was first taken to Dr. T. W. A. Gray's office, after which he was removed to hospital.

OBJECTIONS ON PLANS REMOVED

Premier Pattullo explained to-day that in ordering a start on the Fraser River bridge before the actual certificate of approval has been issued, the provincial government was not ignoring the rights of the federal government in the matter. However, it felt that all objections in the way of approval had been met, and therefore nothing was left to hold up construction. The Premier said he had been in touch with Ottawa authorities about the bridge site, and was satisfied the project could now proceed.

Leg Fractured In Crash To-day

Frank Holdridge Suffers Compound Break While Riding Motorcycle

Frank Holdridge, 2074 Goldsmith Street, a member of the staff of the Gonzales Observatory, suffered a compound fracture of the leg in an accident at the corner of Poul Bay Road and Oak Bay Avenue, about 1 o'clock to-day.

According to a police report, Mr. Holdridge was riding north on a motorcycle along Poul Bay Road. His vision was obscured at the intersection by a street car awaiting a passenger and he was in collision with a car driven west on Oak Bay Avenue by Mrs. E. Boyd, 1296 Beach Drive.

Holdridge was held under the machine as it turned on its side, falling on his leg.

He was taken to the Jubilee Hospital by Mrs. Boyd, where it was believed he had suffered a compound fracture.

JUDGE GIVES FARMER CHANCE

Root Rot and Cream Price Aid Frank Higgins in Staying Foreclosure

Because root rot destroyed the wheat crop in parts of Saanich last year, and because of the low price of cream and the generally adverse weather conditions for agriculturists, Frank Higgins, K.C. was to-day able to head off the immediate commencement of foreclosure proceedings by Peter Carlin Wells of Sidney against the McMillan farm of North Saanich.

John L. Clay, counsel for Mr. Wells, made the application to Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald of the Supreme Court for leave to commence on the grounds that no interest had been paid for two years on the $2,000 mortgage.

Mr. Higgins, counsel for Bertina McMillan, pointed out that after root rot had destroyed the entire wheat crop of the farm last year and the low price of cream and bad weather had cut profits, Mrs. McMillan had offered to settle by giving Mr. Wells twenty acres, but this was not accepted.

"Our purpose is to pay just as soon as we can harvest the crop this year," Mr. Higgins said. "There are no arrears of taxes as we have kept them all paid up."

"You had better give him a couple of months," said Mr. Justice McDonald to Mr. Clay, who explained he had the report of the registrar recommending that leave to proceed be given.

The judge ordered that leave to proceed be given effective October 1.

For three days during the production of Mae West's new starring Paramount picture, "Goin' to Town," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, Owsley did all his work reposing on the floor of the set in a grotesque position.

The picture Owsley is shot and considerable action revolves about his "body." Consequently it was necessary for him to hold his position all day long while Mae West, Paul Cavagnish, Ivan Lebedeff and the rest of the cast acted about him.

With the premium for honors now removed from duplicate bridge, you are going to find players fighting all the harder to get into the finer contracts.

For example: Porter and Hopkins, two members of the champion team, held the East and West cards, and Porter decided to try the hand at no trump, due to his ten ace position in spades and also, due to his club holding, he might be able to force South into a bad opening lead. Four no trump, of course, is the best score on the board, as this produces a score of 130 points for tricks, while hearts scores only 120 points. These are small figures, but they mean much in championship events.

Against Porter's three no trump bid, South opened the jack of clubs which was won by declarer with the

Another diamond was led and South won with the king. South played the ten of spades, dummy won the trick with the queen, and declarer discarded a club. The king of hearts was cashed, followed by a small heart, which declarer won with the ace.

Declarer then led the eight of hearts, winning in dummy with the queen. North was careful not to discard any of his diamonds. Dummy's two good hearts were cashed, North discarding two spades.

The good jack of diamonds was cashed and North won the last trick with the jack of diamonds. This was only three tricks, the declarer making four no trump, doubled.

Four no trump, doubled, if South had cashed his ace of clubs, declarer would have made one trick less, but you will find, if you follow the hand through, that if South cashed the ace of clubs, North would not get the ten of diamonds.

NAVAL MYSTERY HAS FINE CAST

"Murder in the Fleet" Now Playing at Dominion Theatre

Mysterious crimes, an amazing feat of detective work, and brooding bewilderment mingle with hilarious comedy in a unique blend in "Murder in the Fleet," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new story of crime on a cruiser, now playing at the Dominion Theatre.

Thrills blend into laughs and vice versa, as a naval lieutenant follows a criminal amid a crowd of civilian visitors and a ship's crew, impounded on a suspicious-laden ship. A sensational fight with a murderer and an astounding climax in which the criminal is disclosed after practically every soul on board has been under suspicion, mark high spots in excitement in the fast-moving play.

Little Jean Parker, heroine of "Sequoia," has her most ambitious role to date as the sweetheart of Robert Taylor, the young officer who solves the crime tangle. Taylor, who recently scored in "Times Square Lady" and "Society Doctor," gives an outstanding performance.

Veteran Jean Herschell plays the principal character role as the government inspector, and comedy interludes are in the skilled hands of Nat Pendleton, Ted Healy, Una Merkel and Mary Doran. Arthur Byron, Frank Shields, Donald Cook, Mische Auer, Tom Dugan, Tony Hughes, Raymond Hatton, Ward Bond, Richard Tucker, John Hyams, Lella McIntyre and others of note are in the cast.

Edward Sedgwick, director of "Death on the Diamond" and other thrillers with comedy, blended the mixture of laughs and thrills, from a story by himself. Lieutenant Commander Frank Weed and Joe Sherman wrote the screen play.

Being shown as second feature is George Murphy in "I'll Love You Always."

COLUMBIA

The flying marines, during the production of the Cosmopolitan Production picture, "Devil Dogs of the Air," on North Island, San Diego, Calif., taught Pat O'Brien a new dictionary in slang. But the co-star with James Cagney in the picture, which Warner Bros. will present at the Columbia Theatre on Monday, handed the service men a couple of words that kept them guessing.

Two of Pat's favorite expressions are "Jerk" and "bingie stiff." Both have virtually the same meaning.

When he says, "That jerk," or "That bingie stiff," he is referring to men he doesn't particularly like.

"Devil Dogs of the Air" is a rollicking tale of Marines on land, on sea and in the air. It is replete with breath-taking thrills furnished by the greatest stunt aviators, and hilarious comedy.

JOE E. BROWN TO STAR AT CAPITOL

Joe E. Brown's latest Warner Bros. picture, "Alibi Ike," which will open at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow, is heralded as the most hilarious film in which the famous star has yet appeared.

The story was written by the late Ring Lardner, who probably knew baseball players better than any other author. It's a pennant winning comedy of baseball and blunders.

"Alibi Ike" is a big league ball player, a crack pitcher and a batter whose average, contrary to most twirlers, runs around the 400 mark. He never makes a play on the field or off it without alibing.

Even when he falls desperately in love with the sister of the captain's wife, he alibis about it. She happens to hear him making excuses for giving her an engagement ring, and turns him down cold, which causes a series of events as thrilling as they are ludicrous.

A sequence showing Ike kidnapped by a group of gamblers, from whom he escapes in time to win the final game in his pyjamas, is just one of the exciting and funny incidents in the film.

There is more romance than usual in a Joe Brown comedy, his love affair winding up in a climax that is most unusual.

powers to grant the sale of beer and wine to any persons upon recommendation of the Liquor Board, and it is up to the proprietors of hotels, cafes and restaurants to go after their rights and the people's freedom in Victoria and the whole of Vancouver Island.

If Mr. H. F. Matthews, general manager of the Canadian Pacific hotel system, would only take this matter up with the Attorney-General on the lines of his article in to-day's issue, he will gladly get all the information and assistance possible, with others who see the futility of legislating against the freedom and liberties of the people on this vexatious question. Surely we credit our people and our visitors with commonsense in either eating or drinking. Letters and articles in our local press upon this matter clearly show the injustice of the present system to all concerned. I refer chiefly to the fruit-growing and wine industries with the allied trades, which would absorb a lot of our unemployment, and from a moral standpoint would do away with the evasion of the law, more especially among the youth of to-day, who deplore the hole-and-corner method of "thou shalt not." No government on earth can legislate in this manner without making criminals of decent citizens.

As to good roads, poor roads, bad roads, we welcome criticisms in Saturday's issue regarding the condition of the roads, and I, personally, do not plan to the limit of travel to poor roads, but would like to point out to Mr. May and her friends that the public works departments of the government and of the cities have and are doing all in their power to maintain good roads on this island—the monetary conditions of to-day explaining the whole situation. Taxation has gone beyond the limit of the taxpayer to-day and a day of reckoning is at hand for the entire revision of public overhead against revenue. This question opens up the subject of one of our principle resources, tourist trade, and how to keep it. "It's our Island," etc., but is it for I am inclined to agree with many other writers on this subject that the dampening atmosphere of smug hypocrisy is largely to blame for the limits of travel, and nothing will alter this situation until the same facilities are offered to our visitors as are granted to them in their own home towns, whether it be Quebec or the United States. Many many thanks to Mrs. E. C. May of Parkville and of San Marino, Cal., and also Mr. H. F. Matthews, general manager of the hotel systems, C.P.R., in bringing these vital statistics to the fore, and let us hope that quick action will result to the satisfaction of all those in favor of "It's your Island, develop it!"

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am engaged to be married to the dearest boy in the world. We expect to be married soon, with the understanding that I will continue working for a year or two until he is earning enough to support us both. Recently, a man has warned me against my marriage. He says that a man who will get married without being able to support a wife has no backbone and will never amount to anything. Do you think that my working after marriage will injure the morale of my fiancé? Do you think it will be right for us to marry while we are still madly in love and get along on our combined salaries, or will it be wiser for us to wait for several years until he is earning enough for us both? Neither of us are afraid. We won't live in poverty if we get married now, but we will be dependent upon my salary as well as his.

G. R. N.

Answer: My advice is to take your courage and your two pay envelopes in both hands and go along and get married while you are still young and your love is fresh and ardent. As I have said many times in this column, wedding cake should be eaten while it is hot from the oven. It gets stale and tasteless if kept too long on the shelf.

Even romance has to be nourished and sheltered. A bride and bridegroom must eat and have a roof over their heads, so if they cannot rake up enough money between them to rent a room and provide bread and cheese to go with their kisses, they must needs put off marriage until they can pay the piper. But when a boy and girl between them are earning enough to finance even the most modest of homes they make a mistake in waiting to marry until the man can alone support the whole establishment.

For they not only cut themselves out of the years of happiness they might have had together, but they doom themselves to go through the dreary ordeal of a long engagement, which is trying on the affections and the nerves and the principles. And at the last they find that their belief in it with something of the disillusion of married people. It is only the eyes of youth that ever seen the golden glory and the circling wings of love.

There is no other more foolish thinking than that which makes people believe, as many do who have not rightly considered the subject, that it shows a man in lacking in strength of character for him to permit his wife to continue on with her job after marriage. Every man expects his wife to be a helpmeet. That is what the Bible adjures a woman to be, and every woman who is worth her salt expects and desires to help her husband. If she can do this better by earning money than she can by cooking and scrubbing for him, certainly it is the most sensible thing to do. Why it should weaken a husband's morale, for his wife to work outside of the home any more than in it, nobody can explain. Yet those who criticize a wife helping her husband by working at a mahogany-topped desk would applaud her slaving over a gas range.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a business girl, quite attractive and with a good job. My problem is this: All my life I have dreamed about a tall, handsome man whom I expected to meet some day and marry, but I find myself engaged to a young man who is neither tall nor handsome. I must say that he is everything any one could want. He is kind, thoughtful, loving. We have more or less the same education. Like the same books and are quite companionable. But when he is devoted to me, I only care for him in a lukewarm fashion. We are to be married soon, but I hesitate because I am wondering if I am going to be happy married to a man who isn't my ideal and who doesn't thrill me and if, perhaps, I may meet some one after I am married who will be everything I dreamed about and whom I will fall in love with at first sight, as people do in stories. Is it better to marry a man who loves you and who would give you a comfortable home than it would be to spend your life looking for some one who may not exist?

MAG.

Answer: My dear child, don't you know that every girl that ever lived has this same dream of marrying a Fairy Prince who is tall and slim and has golden curls and a Greek profile and a romantic line, who makes violent and impassioned love and snatches the poor little Dumb Belle up in his arms and carries her off to live in unimaginable splendor, where they have nothing to do but to eat ice cream and dance and have a perpetual petting party?

A girl begins seeing this vision about the time she becomes boy-conscious, and she goes on thrilling over it until the hero's picture is obliterated by that of some stocky, freckle-faced, double-lidded lad who hasn't an ounce of sentiment in him, but who somehow is her man whom she marries and lives with happily ever after.

You see, most girls have enough gumption and enough sense of humor to perceive after they are grown up that the figure of their girlish dreams was just something they conjured up out of their own fancies, and they laugh at it and get over it and realize that the dreamer has stood to live with a smiling eye if they had found him. And so no harm is done and they have enjoyed their bit of romance.

But you have taken your adolescent fancy seriously. You set up an impossible standard that no mortal man could possibly measure up to, and if you are going through the world still looking for your ideal, even after you are married, you are certainly headed for trouble.

For a woman with as much imagination as you have will always be thinking that she has found her hero, and before she finds out that she is mistaken she will have landed in the divorce court.

My advice to you is not to marry until you find some man who looks better to you than any other man on earth. There is enough disillusion in marriage even when you start out thinking that you have caught the world's wonder for a husband. But don't wait to marry until you experience love at first sight. Once in a blue moon that may happen, but most of us have to get acquainted and acclimated to strangers before we fall in love with them.

Uncle Wiggily and the Swooper

By HOWARD E. GARIS

While Uncle Wiggily and his wife were staying at the summer cottage near Green Lake there were little baby rabbits who came to live with them. The baby rabbits were no larger than a lollipop and they were so cute that when the old rabbit children saw them they all said: "Oh! Oh! Oh!" Three times, just like that.

The new little rabbits were named Cutie, Bootie and Scootie. Cutie was so named because she was so very cute. Bootie had four little black paw pads like the rest of him was white fur. It looked as if he had on boots and so he was named. You can guess how Scootie got his name—it was because he was always scooting, running and hopping here, there and everywhere, to see what he could find.

"But I'll tell you one thing, Scootie," said Uncle Wiggily, "you may scoot around in the woods if you don't go too far away from the cottage. But don't do any scooting in the open field near the lake."

"Why not?" asked Scootie.

"Because there are swoopers flying over that field looking for little rabbits to catch and eat," said Mr. Longears.

"What are swoopers?" asked Cutie.

"Swoopers are hawk birds," answered Uncle Wiggily. "Hawks are large, fierce birds, with strong, sharp claws and a strong, sharp beak, and they have eyes that can look down and see a baby rabbit in the grass. And once the hawk sees the rabbit down he swoops like an arrow and catches the baby rabbit in his claws and carries him away. So keep out of the field near the lake."

"Can't the swooper catch us in the woods?" asked Scootie.

"Not so easily," answered Uncle Wiggily. "The woods are full of trees and bushes and good places for little rabbits to hide under a hat is a good place to be in the woods. But out in the open field there are no hiding places to help them. For a time the three new little rabbits remembered what Uncle Wiggily had told them and kept out of the broad, open field of grass. They played in the woods. But it wasn't long before Cutie, Bootie and Scootie forgot some of this advice. They were getting what they had been told, and very hungry for the sweet clover, one day all three of them left the cool, shady woods and ran to the field.

"Oh, this clover is good!" said Cutie, nibbling it.

"As sweet as honey!" said Bootie, taking a big bite of it.

"And I don't believe any swooper will catch us," said Scootie. "We can come here as often as we like."

Just then, all of a sudden, down out of the blue sky where he had been hovering and waiting for this chance, swooped a savage, hungry hawk. With a whirr of his big wings he came down upon the

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

WEDNESDAY, JULY 31, 1935

This is not an important day in planetary government, but adverse aspects are active. The stars encourage play instead of work, although accidents are to be avoided by special care. In whatever makes for amusement or entertainment in the home. This is an auspicious day for holidays.

In exhibitions and fairs women appear to be unusually prominent this summer. They will gain added fame for beauty and cleverness. They come under a rule believed to encourage executive ability.

Theaters and those who are connected with them have a sign of much promise for next season. New management will improve stage and screen, it is prophesied.

Grav report may be broadcast under this conjunction, for it is said to increase envy and jealousy. Gossip should be avoided.

Tendency to wear down may be evident at this time, when not only private characters and business reputations may be at stake, but when public policies may be attacked. Extraordinary charges value of the people's money are expected before the end of the year.

The stars prophesy a serious calamity through an organized protest against current economic conditions. Strife among those who have work and riots among those who are idle are forecast.

Persons whose horoscope it is have the augury of a year of much pleasure and many trips. They should beware of undue generosity or extravagance.

Children born on this day probably will be fond of sports and adventure. Subjects of this sign usually are clever in working out their destinies.

Paul N. DuChaille, astrologer, was born on this day, 1923. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include John B. Brown, engineer and inventor, 1921, and George Randolph, 1924.

COAST LONGSHORE TROUBLE FORESEEN

Associated Press
Moscow, July 30.—New labor troubles among the seamen and port workers on the Pacific Coast of the United States were foreseen to-day by an American delegate, Sam Darcy of San Francisco, speaking before the seventh congress of the Third International.

He said a bitter "struggle" is likely to ensue in September when an agreement between workers and shipowners expires and that it could well start an unprecedented strike movement.

Trying To Clear Up Longshore Trouble

Pacific Coast Unions to Send Delegations to Series of Conferences at Washington.

Associated Press
Washington, July 30.—Pacific Coast maritime unions were asked last night to send representatives here to try to clear up their disputes with shipping interests.

Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, slated three conferences:

Saturday with the International Seamen's Union.

Monday with the longshoremen.

Tuesday with the masters, mates and pilots.

In a telegram to the west coast local, McGrady said the Labor Department, the shippers, the American Federation of Labor and International officers of each union would be represented along with the locals.

VIOLATION CHARGED

President Roosevelt, members of Congress and the department, Mc-Grady said, had been besieged with complaints that the unions had violated their agreement of last fall to submit disputes to port labor relations boards before they went on strike.

"Plour is rotting in the holds of the ships, perishable goods are destroyed, newspaper publishing is being curtailed because the paper is being held on these boats, (tied up by local strikes) and business generally is adversely affected," he added.

INTOLERABLE SITUATION

"This is an intolerable situation and one which cannot be allowed to continue."

McGrady's action followed his conferences yesterday with representatives of the ship owners, the A.P. of L. and the seamen's and longshoremen's unions.

The present agreement expires September 30.

The shipowners say now there is no use making a new contract unless they obtain a guarantee the agreement will be lived up to. McGrady told reporters after the conference
"They would renew the agreement if they had that guarantee."

Three ships have been tied up by strikes for some time, one at San Francisco and two at Vancouver. Mc-Grady said he had reports that four more were tied up yesterday.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, July 30.—Mechanical dispatching of waterfront labor will now be carried on in the usual way for the first time since the beginning of the strike here. The Shipping Federation of British Columbia announced yesterday.

A shipping agency will inform its stevedoring company of its requirements. The stevedore company will apply for men through the federation and the gangs will be allotted to the job. They will, however, still be boarded and housed on the job.

noon to-day. Inbound from China

The Japan met good weather all cept for the fog as the ship neared the Coast.

In addition to passengers, the Japan landed about seventy-five tons of general cargo here, and two automobiles from Honolulu. There was on from Montreal and spent some time at Banff and Lake Louise, being particularly impressed with the vastness of the country and the immensity of the Canadian Rockies.

He came here from Vancouver with

DISNEY AGENT COMING WEST

Director of Mickey Mouse Productions Seeking Ideas in Jasper Park

Winnipeg, Man., July 30.—On his first trip through western Canada in many years, William Erskine, director of the Walt Disney Enterprises, spent the weekend in Winnipeg, and left for the west over Canadian National Lines Sunday.

His is travelling in the interests principally of his internationally famous little pal, Mickey Mouse, and believes the general atmosphere and surroundings of Jasper Park and Maligne Lake areas will be productive of some new ideas for the interesting wee chap.

Mr. Disney makes eighteen pictures a year. It was his intense love for animals that started him off on his Mickey Mouse career, and this later developed into the Silly Symphony series in color.

England has been the most receptive country for the Disney films, and on his arrival there a short time ago
a special train took him to London.
At the station in London, he received nearly two hours autographing for young and old. Asked why he did this, he smilingly replied,
"Well, the kids came to see me, didn't they?" Mickey Mouse has been shown in eighty-eight countries, possibly one reason for his European attraction being that it is mostly pantonime and no translation is needed.

"Three Little Pigs" was the most sensational picture Disney has produced.
"It takes 300 people three weeks to make a Disney picture, and 15,000 individual drawings are required. His latest, "Who Killed Cock Robin," is now in process of completion," said
Mr. Erskine.

During his western trip Mr. Erskine will visit Jasper Park Lodge and later proceed to Prince Rupert, where he will sail on Ss. Prince George for Vancouver, arriving there August 5.

Through his connections with the Mackay interests, Mr. Horne knows Capt. C. M. Fleming, master of the cabined steamer, which is maintained here by the Commercial Cable Company. They have traveled a lot together, and to-day they chatted over old times.

Although this is Mr. Horne's first visit to Canada, he has traveled extensively in the south, especially in South America.

He makes his home chiefly in London.
